Rich Men's Resort

- 2,000 acres in East Sooke
- Two whole islands
- German experts on job
- $500,000 spent so far

By JACK FRY

An elaborate international playground is being created on southern Vancouver Island, but who is footing the bill remains a secret.

Under the banner of Grouse Nest Resorts Ltd., the vacationland based at East Sooke is speeding toward a June 9 opening date.

It already includes the old Grouse Nest resort and 2,000 acres of land in the East Sooke area and two islands in the Sidney and Saturna Island-East Point areas.

The firm has applied to the provincial government for a foreshore lease on 130 acres at the eastern end of Sooke basin and in Roche Cove for "boat mooring and general aquatic recreation purposes."

It has also filed in the B.C. Gazette its intentions to apply for leases on 112 acres of foreshore around Forrest Island and 44 acres around Cabbage Island for "private mooring." Specialized workmen from West Germany under the guidance of a highly talented German artist have spent nearly a year converting the old East Sooke resort into a luxury resort which will cater to an international clientele.

Ski Area Interests Swiss

No Object

Money seems to be no object, and more than $500,000 has already been pumped into the Grouse Nest conversion.

Much of the 2,000 acres posted with "no trespassing or shooting" signs in East Sooke will be used as a private deer hunting preserve for Grouse Nest guests.

The 111-acre Silver Spray Ranch on the southwestern tip of the East Sooke Peninsula is earmarked for future development as a waterfront golf course.

The ranch and the two islands in the Gulf were acquired from owners in the United States.

Sportsmen throughout Greater Victoria have expressed fears that their popular hunting and fishing areas are being "taken over" by German interests.

The skiing resort potential of Green Mountain has attracted inquiries from a Swiss promotional company, according to an announcement last night by the executive of the Sno Birds Ski Club.

The Swiss company, whose name could not be learned, plans to make the 585-acre site at the 4,800-foot level of Green Mountain into a first-class area, complete with gondola lift, restaurant facilities and overnight accommodation.

The Green Mountain area, reached through Comox Logging Co. land 25 miles west of the Island Highway at Cassidy, was opened three winters ago.

Insanity Trial Ordered

'His Mind Falling Apart' Ruby's Lawyers State

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby, described by his lawyers as a man whose "mind is falling apart," will get a jury trial to determine if he is insane and should be committed to a mental hospital.

In response to a request for a sanity trial filed by Mrs. Eva

Grant, Ruby's sister, Judge Joe E. Brown said he would begin empanelling a jury at the first suitable date.

BOLD SUCH TRIAL

Texas law requires that a judge hold such a trial if the defence asks for it.

Ruby, who banged his head against a cell wall Sunday, appeared pale and shaky at a hearing Monday. An abrasion the size of a half-dollar could be seen on the top of his head.

A psychiatrist testified that Ruby, the slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, believes his crime will result in the slaughter of 25,000,000 American Jews.

Ruby believes he is "the Jew responsible" for the imagined slaughter, the psychiatrist said, adding that such hallucinations triggered his apparent suicide attempt Sunday.

CALL BARRI

Defence lawyer Joe Tomahill said Ruby tried to fight him earlier Monday. "I had to call in his rabbi to calm him," Tomahill said.

Cottage Kept Cosy At Chilling Cost

BRANDON (CP)—Last fall Ross McNaught of nearby Hamlet visited his lake cottage to see that everything was in order for the winter.

While there, he turned on the four elements of his electric stove to "take off the chill."

Apparently the cottage was cosy all winter, because Mr. McNaught has just received a bill from Manitoba Hydro for $180.

Giant Blast Salvation

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet engineers prepared a massive explosion Monday to release a dammed-up mountain river as a first step toward saving the flood-threatened city of Samarkand.

They planned to set off 125,000 pounds of explosives today in their effort to cut a canal outlet through a landslide that has blocked the central River Zeravshan, 1,700 miles south-east of Moscow.

TO BUILD CANAL

They seek to build a canal 965 feet long that would drain the backed up waters into the river bed below. The landslide is so unstable that holes have to be dug by hand to place the explosives, chief engineer Andrei Tsvetkov told a Soviet correspondent at the scene.

Workers hacked out hole 6.5 feet wide and 36.2 feet deep for the charges, reported to be made up of conventional blasting materials.

Experts at the dammed gorge said the lake rising behind the landslide will push out the natural dam in a maximum of four days, a report by the official news agency Tass said.

That would send a wave of destruction down the valley to the fabled old central Asian trade marts of Samarkand and Bukhara—unless the water can first be let out gradually through a canal.

Negro Barred —Officers Quit Parley

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The New York state delegates to a meeting of U.S. National Guard officers packed their bags Monday, under orders from Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to go home because their hotel refused to admit a Negro colonel.

Maj.-Gen. A. C. O'Hara, adjutant-general of New York, said the management of the Roosevelt Hotel refused a room to Col. Otho Van Exel, commander of Brooklyn's 157th artillery group.

Maj.-Gen. Edwin W. Heywood, adjutant-general of Maine and association president said the incident would not affect the conference.

Greeks Break Cease-Fire With Large-Scale Attack

NICOSIA (UPI)—Strong Greek Cypriot forces led by the Greek Cypriot interior minister launched a two-pronged assault Monday on the last Turkish Cypriot stronghold in northeastern Cyprus. The Greeks were using armored cars, machine-guns and mortars.

The battle continued to rage as night fell and United Nations officials feared it could continue through the night under a full moon. The immediate object was medieval St. Hilarion Castle which dominates the mountain passes and the Nicosia-Kyrenia road.

The Greek Cypriot attack which broke a cease-fire arranged by the UN forces was commanded by Greek Cypriot interior minister Polycarpus Georghiades who came under heavy fire from the Turkish Cypriot position.

Turkish Cypriot guns fired on Canadian UN Ferret armored cars as they descended the mountains at sunset from a position near St. Hilarion. One car was hit but the Canadians did not return the fire. There were no casualties.

'Nurse' Abducts Baby

CHICAGO (UPI)—A blonde dressed in a nurse's uniform saw the abductor carrying the baby boy through a rear exit maternity ward into giving up her three-day-old baby and abducted it from under the noses of nurses at Michael Reese Hospital.

Police said two witnesses saw the abductor carrying the baby boy through a rear exit maternity ward into giving up her three-day-old baby and abducted it from under the noses of nurses at Michael Reese Hospital.

A city-wide alert was issued for the abductor and child and police assigned all available men, including homicide detectives, to the search.

The mother, Mrs. Chester Fronczak, 28, became hysterical when she was informed of the kidnapping.

Pre-Birth Transfusions Save Canadian Baby

WINNIPEG (CP)—A baby boy who appeared doomed before birth is alive and thriving in Winnipeg General Hospital after a rare medical procedure believed to have been accomplished for the first time in Canada.

Doctors say one-week-old William Paul Taylor has every prospect of leading a healthy life.

He received four transfusions before birth and three afterwards because of a conflict in the blood types of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Taylor of Druid, Sask.

In a procedure known as transuterine intraperitoneal blood transfusion, blood supplied by the Canadian Red Cross was injected by a long needle through the mother's abdominal wall and uterus into the baby's abdominal cavity.

Zamora is a "very reliable witness," said army Capt. Richard Holder, upranks commander of White Sands' stalker range. Holder, whose headquarters is near this central New Mexico town, was called in by local police after Zamora reported seeing the object Friday.

Deputy Sheriff James Lucide said he believes "It's something out of the ordinary, something very few have ever seen."

"I was scared," Zamora said. He said his experience taught him one thing: If it happens again, he will still run away as he did Friday, but he will not tell a soul about what he saw.

NEAR SAUCER

He said he spotted what appeared to be a pair of white coveralls near the saucer, but could not tell if anything or anyone was in them. The object, about the height of a car but larger, appeared to be made of a shiny, aluminum-like substance, Zamora said. It flew away after he got within about 100 yards, he said.

Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Cheque

Who Owns Rich Men's Resort?

But Victoria lawyer Louis Lindholm, president of Grouse Nest Resorts Ltd., said no German money is behind the scheme.

He said the firm's backers are well-to-do Swiss investors, but he declined to say whether any of them are prominent in international circles.

"We expect our clientele will be international," said Mr. Lindholm.

Patronage

"We may do a little advertising in national magazines, and we are hoping especially for patronage from the Pacific Northwest and California."

"But we also think the people of Victoria will be delighted with the exclusive cuisine and elegant atmosphere at the resort," he said.

"A mailing of and checks from the highest-ranking European hotels will be on staff at the Grouse Nest this summer to offer the finest in European cuisine—it will be unique among restaurant establishments in the Pacific Northwest."

A double staff of chefs will be employed at the Grouse Nest this summer, so Canadian chefs can be trained to carry on after the specialists return to Europe in the fall.

Opening Date

More than 40 men are rushing completion of the Grouse Nest for a June 9 opening date.

"A famous European architect and muralist formerly engaged in restoration of European cathedrals has been retained to design and supervise decoration of the lodge," said Mr. Lindholm.

He is Antoni Burkhart, of Frankfurt, Germany, who learned his skills under a master who worked for the late Kaiser Wilhelm.

He spoke no English when he and his hand-picked crew of German specialists arrived at Grouse Nest 33 months ago.

Still Stumbles

The artist still stumbles on pronunciation of some words and when the going gets tough he skirts the language barrier by drawing pictures for the Canadian craftsmen to follow.

The German architect imported building materials from all over Europe, the United States and Canada. He uses everything from tiger seal skins, polished green malachite and pink mirrors, to driftwood and rocks gathered from nearby beaches.

Asked why he is spending so much money on the Grouse Nest reconstruction, Mr. Burkhart replied that he could do the job with two-by-fours and cheap construction, but it would lack the elegance which will be needed for its new customers.

Other highlights offered by Grouse Nest will include a cocktail lounge overlooking Sooke basin, which is expected to become a popular rendezvous place for Victorians.

Spend Night

Also, charter fishing boat service for guests who want to fish in the Gulf Islands and spend the night at lodges yet to be built on Cabbage and Forrest Islands.

"This tourist attraction will rank along with the Butchart Gardens, and Victorians will take tremendous pride in it," said Mr. Lindholm.

Asked why Swiss investors are pouring so much money into southern Vancouver Island, Mr. Lindholm said his clients feel it is one of the safest places in the world for their money.

Money is not being spent here on any get-rich scheme because the Grouse Nest backers will not be able to recover from its operation the money they are spending on it, he said.

Cheap Land

"Land in Canada is as cheap or cheaper than anywhere else in the world, when compared with comparable land in a temperate climate," said Mr. Lindholm.

"In addition, a person investing in Canada also has the consolation of knowing that his investment is in less jeopardy than elsewhere, in that we have a stable form of government dedicated to democratic principles, we have an independent judiciary rooted in the principles of English common law, and we have an intelligent and industrious, law-abiding citizenry."

"In my opinion, this combination is difficult to parallel in any other underpopulated area of the world. Consequently, it should be no surprise to us that Americans, Englishmen or Europeans should regard our country as a highly desirable area for investment," he said.

Land Deals

German investors have been so active in lower Vancouver Island land deals in recent years that many people here fear the Germans may eventually corner much of the choice recreational land here.

Prinz Johannes von Thurn und Taxis was reported to own some 3,000 acres of Salt Spring Island and was believed to have later acquired most of the shoreline of Horne Lake, near Qualicum.

Moresby Island near Sidney, with its 1,400 acres of farm and forest land, was sold to a Prince von Furstenberg.

Wrigglesworth Lake on the Malahat and Grant Lake, near the Koksilah River behind Shawnigan Lake, also went to German interests.

In all cases the areas have been closed to public recreational use.

Dawson Creek Man Killed

HUDSON HOPE, B.C. (CP)—A 35-year-old Dawson Creek, B.C., man was killed Monday when he was pinned beneath a backing truck on a Peace River power project near here.

The man's name was not released. He was pronounced dead by a doctor at the scene.

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI)—A smallpox epidemic in Northern Rhodesia has claimed 74 lives since the first of the year, the government reported Monday. It said superstitious natives refuse to be vaccinated.

Ski Resort Sought

The club has invested about $25,000 in development so far.

The lodge, which offers to club members limited accommodation, was opened last season. Three towers have been set up and heavy snow this winter made skiing conditions excellent. However, the problem of getting up Green Mountain to the ski slopes remains a difficult one.

While there is an all-weather road to the base of the mountain, snowmobiles have to be used to avoid a two-mile hike, rising over 2,500 feet. The proposed gondola lift would eliminate that difficulty.

The Swiss group was flown into the area by helicopter in March, during the week when the slopes are usually vacant. The offer has since been made through a Victoria law firm.

PRIVATE COMPANY

Sno Birds Ski Club president Barbara Davies is of the opinion that some private company will have taken over the development within a year, if not the Swiss group.

The club made a proposal to the department of recreation and conservation last year to make it into a provincial class C park, but nothing came of the venture.

Your Good Health

Alcohol Isn't Only Cause Of Cirrhosis of the Liver

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: What is cirrhosis of the liver? Is it cancer? What causes it? —MRS. J.O.

No, cirrhosis of the liver is not cancer. It is a hardening of the liver.

The liver does a complex variety of things: it provides certain digestive juices (bile); it helps filter waste products from the blood; it converts nutrients such as sugar and protein into readily available forms; it stores copper, iron, and starch; it produces Vitamin A as well as fibrinogen, which is an important part of the blood required for healing wounds.

OUT OF ACTION

Sometimes many of the cells of the liver are put out of action. Fibrous tissue forms and constricts the organ, further impairing its function.

It is surprising to realize how much of the liver can be damaged without disabling it or the patient. All the same, when the liver has reached a certain stage of this damage, there is nothing that can be done to reverse the process.

MAIN CAUSES

Poisoning, faulty nutrition and infection are the main causes of cirrhosis, although other factors may add to the troubles.

Alcohol sometimes gets cirrhosis of the liver, and for that reason some people jump to the conclusion that drinking is the cause of cirrhosis.

This is not always true. Alcohol is one of many poisons which can damage the liver and one of the chief ones. Note the repeated warnings about using various cleaning fluids and solvents unless there is plenty of ventilation. Liver damage is one of the risks if you breathe the fumes in too great concentration.

Heavy drinkers often don't eat properly, so that adds to the risk to the liver damage from faulty nutrition.

But cirrhosis also sometimes attacks people who have never taken a drink in their lives, and have always been careful of diet. Some other form of poisoning, infections, and probably other less apparent factors account for these cases.

Dear Dr. Molner: At what elevation should one sleep with chronic high blood pressure? Should you lie flat, use one pillow, be at a 45 degree angle, or what? —MRS. C.C.P.

This is generally a matter of personal preference and comfort with one important exception:

If there is a problem of morning headaches (as may be the case with patients with high blood pressure) the head of the bed should be raised an inch or two.

Slain Stripper Out With Man

LONDON. (UPI) — Scotland Yard Monday pieced together a sketchy description of a well-dressed man as a possible lead in solving the strangulation of four prostitutes in five months. Detectives said the man apparently was the last person seen with Helen (Teddy) Barthelmy, a 22-year-old tattooed stripper, before she was killed and dumped on a garbage heap in London's western suburbs.

Cameron Raps Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's family allowance payments are "no business of any provincial government," Colin Cameron (NDP—Nanaimo-Cowichan-the Islands) said in the Commons Monday.

Mr. Cameron said he is disturbed at the claim of Premier Lesage of Quebec that the federal proposal to extend the allowances for students aged 16 and 17 is an invasion of provincial rights.

Federal government acceptance of this view would be "another disastrous step toward the disintegration of our central national authority."

The British Columbia MP spoke as the House opened debate on preliminary resolutions to implement income tax changes announced in the March 16 budget of Finance Minister Gordon.

The government has already announced an agreement with the Quebec government whereby the new family allowances will not be paid in Quebec. Instead, Quebec will receive extra taxing powers — probably an added share of personal income taxes — in lieu of the payments.

Paris, Peking Name Envoys

PARIS (AP) — Paris and Peking named their ambassadors Monday, completing the French Communist Chinese diplomatic link forged by President de Gaulle three months ago to the dismay of the West.

Paris announced Lucien Paye, 56, recently ambassador to Senegal, as its ambassador. Peking selected Huang Chen, one of six deputy foreign ministers of China.

LBJ Forecasts Growing Profits

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, drawing waves of applause from a predominantly Republican audience, predicted Monday a $30,000,000,000 profit year for business in the United States and promised "restraint and responsibility" in government.

Some 5,000 delegates of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and their wives interrupted with applause of laughter, or both, some 60 times during Johnson's hour-long speech. It was a triumph for the Democratic president and, sensing it, Johnson strayed far from his prepared text to regale the businessmen with Texas-style quips and anecdotes.

His forecast that 1964 would bring industry $30,000,000,000 in profits, after taxes, was given in a long extemporaneous passage, in which Johnson noted that profits were $17,300,000,000 in 1952, $24,600,000,000 in 1952, $27,100,000,000 last year.

ATTACKS POVERTY

He seized the opportunity to press his attack on poverty, telling the businessmen they can help make "taxpayers out of tax-eaters."

The president asserted that despite the rising level of profits and prosperity for millions of people, the poverty of many Americans is "a mounting burden" of relief, medical and police costs. He added that racial and religious discrimination is costing the nation $15,000,000,000 in output each year.

Beginning with the academic year, 1965-66, all English-speaking cadets, during their third year, must pass at least one course in the French language. French-speaking cadets will be required to pass similar courses in English.

Cadets to Be Bilingual

OTTAWA (UPI) — Defence Minister Paul Hellyer announced Monday English and French-speaking cadets attending Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., are going to have to have a working knowledge of both French and English to graduate.

Beginning with the academic year, 1965-66, all English-speaking cadets, during their third year, must pass at least one course in the French language. French-speaking cadets will be required to pass similar courses in English.

"Such a requirement for graduation," Hellyer said, "will contribute greatly to the bilingual skill of Canadian services colleges cadets."

New Tie-Up Charges Held Unfair to West

OTTAWA (CP) — Charges any federal employee attempting to collect the tie-up fee from all the boats in such circumstances might end up in the water.

The federal works department had provided floats on the West Coast but not on the East Coast. Thus charges instituted in January through changed regulations of the government Harbors and Piers Act would apply inequitably.

Four Jobs Offered Fired Man

MASSET, Queen Charlotte Islands (UPI) — A man who was voted out of his job by fellow cannery workers said Monday he has four new employment offers.

Fred Steel, assistant production manager of the Queen Charlotte Cannery said one of the job offers came from MLA William Murray of Prince Rupert. Steel became the central figure in a labor dispute because of an accident last fall. He was driving a truck which overturned and killed an Indian worker.

Indian cannery workers went on strike claiming Steel had not been punished enough after being fined $200 in court.

Plainclothes police searched London's seamy nightlife districts during the weekend and found Miss Barthelmy last seen Tuesday night in a Bayswater club with a man described only as "well-dressed and well-spoken" and the driver of a blue truck. She was reported to have left the place in the man's company, leaving her handbag behind. Miss Barthelmy's nude body was found Friday.

Being the youngest of 60 exhibitors didn't prevent Victoria's two bright young science students from taking high honors in the Canadian Science Fair at Montreal last week.

The two lads, 12-year-old Douglas Jensen of Glenlyon School, and 13-year-old Jim Henderson, of Oak Bay Junior High School, won the right to compete in the national fair when they were named winners in the recent schools science fair in Victoria.

Jensen, who won the grand award here with his oil exploration exhibit, was given a special proficiency award by the judges—who took seven hours studying the exhibits to decide the winners—and in addition won the award given by the Canadian Institute of Engineers for showing the greatest engineering potential. Henderson, whose DNA mole-cule model won honors here, was awarded honorable mention in Montreal.

The boys won diplomas and will receive cash awards.

Resort To Get Jail?

A 500-acre site near Vancouver Island's lush resort community of Parkville is being touted as the most likely location for a new provincial jail.

Officials said Parkville's balmy weather is the reason it is preferred to an alternate 500-acre tract between Courtenay and Cumberland.

NOT FOR TAN

But the weather is not so inmates can substitute a deep tan for prison pailor—it is so they can grow vegetables. Inmates of the medium security prison will work in agriculture and forestry.

Soldiers Avert Panic in Crash

A squadron of militiamen, who happened on the scene of a serious accident Sunday, have been credited with averting a panic among the injured and clearing what could have been a major traffic jam.

The head-on collision, at Goldstream and the Trans-Canada Highway, left the following injured:

Mrs. Lucille Beiko, 1346 Hampshire, in fair condition in St. Joseph's Hospital with multiple internal injuries; her five-year-old daughter, Angela, in good condition with internal injuries; Mrs. Hendrika Maas, 881 Daffodil, good condition, with head and chest injuries; her son, William, 4, good condition, leg injuries.

Mr. Maas was treated for minor injuries and released.

Sunday night, Mr. Beiko was discharged yesterday.

Two Beiko children, Marilyn, 9, and Cheryl, 6, escaped almost unhurt.

FINNED INSIDE

Both cars were overturned by the impact, and the Beiko auto slid 20 feet on its roof, pinning the parents inside.

Langford firemen worked 30 minutes to free the couple, pinned in their vehicle, while the car smouldered, and at times threatened to burn.

Meanwhile, 52 men from the 40 Technical Squadron, RCMP, returning from a weekend up-Island exercise, covered and comforted the injured until ambulances arrived and kept traffic moving.

Rex's Educated Nose Sniffs Out Weapons

Man Admits Holdup

articles of clothing on a dirt road at Mount Douglas.

Detectives retrieved the clothing and later called in dogmaster Const. James White and Rex, who located the weapons believed used in the robbery.

GUNS TRACED

Officers say they have traced the original owner of the three guns—a .45 Colt automatic pistol, a .45 Webley revolver and a .45 Colt revolver.

With the weapons—which were fully loaded when found—police recovered 70 cartridges and a canvas bag, believed used to carry the money from the bank.

Straw hats and dark glasses, used as disguises, were traced to the store where they were sold, police say.

Detectives now say two cars were used in the crime. The first, a Pontiac U-drive, was abandoned at Holloway and Maplewood, about half a mile from the scene of the crime.

Police say the bandits then drove to Mt. Douglas in a Chevrolet Chevelle and discarded their guns and clothes where they were recovered Saturday.

NANAIMO—Twenty cars from B.C., Alberta and U.S. northwest points will open the car-racing season Sunday, May 17, with races of up to 100 laps at the Grandview Bowl. The Vancouver Island Track Racing Association will sponsor the event and the mid-island association has the track tentatively for six other weeks.

Rex, Saanich police tracking dog, earned its keep Saturday night when it recovered guns believed used in Friday's bank holdup.

Detectives called in Rex and dogmaster Const. James White, after clothing was found on Mt. Douglas, but recovering the weapons was a little more difficult.

A detective placed his service revolver in bushes and allowed it to "cool" a short time, until human scent had dispersed.

When it was shown Rex, gunpowder was the predominant scent surrounding the gun, so he knew what to look for.

Within a few minutes, three weapons were dug up after the dog located them.

Det.-Sgt. Joe Armstrong said yesterday the weapons probably would not have been found without the dog's help.

Tidal Wave Damage

Mac-Powell Covered

By HARRY YOUNG
Calculated Business Editor

I imagine that not many corporations, or individuals, were as well prepared for the ravages of the Alaska earthquake as MacMillan, Blodell and Powell River.

The giant B.C. forest industry firm suffered damage to property at Port Alberni amounting to between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 when the tidal waves hit the Vancouver Island communities last Easter.

The company's operations at the head of the Alberni canal were shut down for several days as a result.

However, not only for the physical damage but also for the loss of production, MacMillan, Blodell and Powell River was fully covered by insurance.

The good news came to the shareholders with the report for the first quarter's operations.

Other good news circulated by Chairman J. V. Clyne to Mac-Powell shareholders was an increase in the net earnings for the first three months of 1964. These amounted to $10,961,521 (53 cents a share).

They compared with first quarter earnings of $1,250,000 (40 cents) in 1963; of $2,700,000 (42 cents) in 1962 and $5,000,000 (27 cents) in 1961.

Sales and operating revenue came to $96,231,994 against $72,500,521 in the corresponding period of 1963.

Mr. Clyne said the firm encountered increased volume of sales for all major products and higher prices generally.

Increased facilities at Port Alberni and Harmac also contributed to the improved results, as did non-recurring profits of $400,000 and a lower average rate of income tax.

Over 700 passengers were carried on the company's special charter vacation trips to Grand Cayman Island in the Caribbean; a regular service is being provided to Pine Point Mines on Great Slave Lake for the development of Cominco's new operation there; and a contract to provide passenger and priority cargo service for the contractors of the Peace River dam at Hudson Hope was signed in February.

Mr. Laidman said the company's Trans-Atlantic charter operations have necessitated the addition of a second DC-7 aircraft, bringing the number of four engine aircraft up to six.

Cigarette Ad Code Decided

NEW YORK (UPI) — United States cigarette makers announced yesterday they have agreed on an advertising code that divorces the sales pitch from sex appeal, athletic prowess, social distinction and success.

The manufacturers said that an independent administrator will enforce the code and fine violators up to $100,000 for infractions.

The code, which will apply to all cigarette advertising including radio, television, newspapers and magazines, is subject to a clearance under the anti-trust laws by the department of justice.

Help for Traders

B.C. Power Shows Way

The Peace and Columbia River developments will be the curtain raisers on new and greater power developments in northwest America, Ralph Loffmark, provincial minister of industrial development, trade and commerce said last night.

Talking at the annual meeting and dinner of the Vancouver Island branch Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the Union Club, Mr. Loffmark said there was a crying need for lower developments throughout the world today.

He said new ways must continually be sought to protect the interest of B.C. traders and of those with whom B.C. traded.

B.C. would be in a very difficult position if exports were to fall off by only four or five per cent, he said. Too often in dealing with other countries the anxiety to sell blotted out the fact that trade should be a two-way matter.

"One of the things we are going to try to develop in bilateral trade, working in conjunction with the government of Canada," said Mr. Loffmark. "We are going to be very active in developing trade on the Pacific rim, particularly with Japan and South America."

EXTEND FACILITIES

The local businessman was often so busy with his day-to-day work that he didn't have the facilities to look for new products and new manufacturing patents.

"Our department is planning to extend these facilities in making available to the local businessman new patents and licences."

He said many people predicted that the American would enjoy the benefits of the Columbia River Treaty in three to five years.

"This shows how fast the demand catches up with our planning," he said. "The U.S. is looking for new power sources all the time, in the northwest and in Alaska."

Keate Suggests 'College Week'

A Victoria newspaper man who is leaving the city for Vancouver has left Victoria's tourist industry with an idea to think about.

At a luncheon given in his honor by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce yesterday, J. Stuart Keate suggested that Victoria hold a "college week" in which B.C. university students would be invited to come to Victoria for a week of festivities after final exams.

LEAVING CITY

Mr. Keate is leaving his post as vice-president of Victoria Press Limited and publisher of the Victoria Daily Times to become publisher of the Vancouver Sun.

Mr. Keate is a member of the senate of the University of Victoria and the board of governors of the University of B.C.

BERMUDA PLAN

He said he got the idea on a recent trip to Bermuda, where tourist authorities have inaugurated a festival week for students of New England colleges who visit Bermuda during the Easter break.

He said B.C. is on the "threshold of an undergraduate explosion" which could provide a market for the Victoria tourist trade.

Of his move to Vancouver, Mr. Keate said he feels as much as he ever did that Victoria is the best city in Canada.

Melville Promoted In Victoria Press

John C. Melville, business manager of Victoria Press Limited, has been promoted to general manager, it was announced yesterday.

The announcement was made by J. Stuart Keate at a luncheon given in Mr. Keate's honor by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Keate is resigning as vice-president of Victoria Press and publisher of the Victoria Daily Times to take a post as publisher of the Vancouver Sun.

Mr. Melville later said the post of general manager is one which has not existed for some time at Victoria Press, and will involve an expansion of his responsibilities "on the business side" of the firm.

He said the post will give him no duties in the editorial departments of the two newspapers published by the firm — The Daily Colonist and the Times.

French Naval Officers May Quit NATO Posts

PARIS (UPI) — France is expected to tell the North Atlantic Treaty Council meeting Wednesday it is withdrawing French naval officers from NATO's Atlantic and Channel commands, reliable sources said Monday.

Until the "announcement is made, government spokesmen have been ordered not to comment on the matter, the sources said.

SLIM LINK

The move would leave the French, now developing an independent nuclear force to be based on submarines carrying Polaris-type missiles, with only the slimmest of liaison links with NATO's naval affairs.

The sources said development of NATO studies for a mixed-manned multilateral force of surface ships firing Polaris missiles was one reason for the French decision.

France's Mediterranean fleet was withdrawn from NATO several years ago. Only a few French ships co-operate with the alliance in the Atlantic.

The ultimate aim of studies for the multilateral force is a need for the alliance.

The alliance now does not bear much relation to what was envisaged in the beginning," a French government source said.

"The talks between Washington and Moscow have reduced the

Toronto Pours Praise On Hockey Champions

TORONTO (CP)—Dull, rainy weather kept crowds to a bare minimum as Toronto Maple Leafs, 1963-64 Stanley Cup champions, were honored Monday at a civic reception at city hall.

Gorge Upsets Navy

Gorge Hotel, fourth-place finishers in the Victoria and District Soccer League's second division, upset Navy, 2-1, Sunday to win the division's playoff championship.

Goals by Ab Travis and Red McMillan and some standout goaltending by Ray Benny paved the way for the win. Benny scored Navy's goal.

Gorge also took the consolation final in the first division Sunday with a 3-2 win over Canadian Scottish on goals by Oed Robb, Tim Walker and Chummy Crabbe. Marty Taylor and Ike McKay scored for Scottish.

In exhibition play, Victoria United beat a district league pickup side, 3-1, getting two goals from Ron Pedersen and one from Henry Vanderhorst.

In Soccer Final

Mexico Wins Again

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mexico won its second straight Pacific Coast international soccer championship and the John F. Kennedy Trophy Sunday by whipping Vancouver, 4-3.

Only 5,186 fans were in the huge Los Angeles Coliseum to witness the rough contest. Excellent passing late in the match by Vancouver could not overcome the Mexicans' superior speed. But Vancouver did score one first when Ken Pears was named most valuable player.

Fewer than 8,000 persons, mostly younger children and teenagers, proved no crowd problem to a force of 500 policemen and women and a dozen police horses, specialists at containing crowd excitement.

At city hall, Mayor Philip Givens, Leafs' captain George Armstrong and manager-coach George (Punch) Imlach made speeches almost identical to those made in 1962 and 1963.

"We have the greatest hockey team in the world," said the mayor.

"We have the greatest fans in the world," came the reply from Armstrong and Imlach.

The Leafs players, with the exception of newcomers Andy Bathgate and Jim Pappin, were reserved throughout the reception. For most of the others it was the third reception in a row.

PRESENTS SILVER BOX
 Mayor Givens made the official presentation to Armstrong—an engraved silver box. The rest of the team will have to wait for their boxes as the final cup series was so doubtful that the city didn't order the gifts until the last moment.

Dave Keon, Frank Mahovlich and Eddie Shack drew the most cheers when introduced by master of ceremonies Ed Fittin.

There were four absentees—forward Red Kelly and Don McKenzie, defenceman Bobby Baum and sub goalie Don Simmons. Kelly left Monday to resume his parliamentary duties at Ottawa. McKenzie flew home to Boston and Simmons was absent for unknown reasons.

Baum missed the accolade at the last minute. X-rays disclosed a hairline fracture of the tibia in his right leg and as he attempted to climb into a car to start the parade, he slipped and injured the leg again.

Look Who's Back

OTTAWA (CP)—Leonard (Red) Kelly, who helped Toronto Maple Leafs win the Stanley Cup, was welcomed back to the Commons Monday night.

Gilles Goggin (Credit—Lapointe) and Paul Martineau (PC—Pontiac—Terniscam) hailed the hockey hero when he quietly slipped into his Commons seat.

Mr. Kelly, Liberal MP for York West, smiled and looked embarrassed, but said nothing.

Ninth All-Star in 12 Years

Victoria—Home of Good Goalies

VANCOUVER — Victoria teams couldn't come away with a division championship in the minor soccer tournaments of Champions here on the weekend but the Victoria association further enhanced its reputation for turning out goalkeepers.

Brian McKenzie of Oak Bay Optimists was named the tournament's outstanding goalie for his performance in the Division I final, when Optimists lost out, 1-0, in overtime to Mount Pleasant Legion.

It marked the ninth time in the 12-year history of the tournament that Victoria has had the all-star goalie. Others to win included Pete Wiseman (1953), Larry DeCosta (1954), Pete Bridgwood (1955), Brian Lindsay (1957), Barry Sadler (1959), Robin Jeffrey (1960), Jamie Angus (1962) and Graeme Cowx (1963).

Three of the judges who had to vote for all-stars named McKenzie "ready to move into the Pacific Coast League right now," although he is not yet 16 years old. The only shot that got by him was on a drive from close in by Vancouver forward Doug Smith which gave McKenzie no chance.

It came midway in the second overtime period of an excellent game.

"Both clubs played their best soccer," said Optimists manager Jack Ockell. "You could see that one goal was going to win it. They got it and we didn't, but you don't have to feel ashamed for losing a game like that."

Victor Kodetja, 12-year-old who scored three goals for Vancouver Legion in its 4-0 win over Gorge Whites of Victoria in Division VI, was named tournament soccer boy.

U.K. Soccer Scandal Link?

Bookie's Body in Reservoir

LONDON (AP)—A bookmaker's body was pulled out of a reservoir Monday and police immediately linked his death with the soccer scandal of alleged fixed matches in England.

The bookie was 32-year-old Bernard Hancock, Nottingham police said he had been interviewed a year ago about alleged bribery of players and once again only a few days ago.

Hancock's body was found in a reservoir in Derbyshire. Police did not say whether foul play was suspected.

MANY INVOLVED

A British Sunday newspaper, The People, has alleged over the last three weeks that many players have been bribed to throw soccer matches in the English League.

Soccer matches in England carry millions of pounds of betting. If players have been bribed then a lot of money could go to the people who knew about the fixed games.

Police have been called in to investigate the allegations. Football Association bosses in England also are investigating the charges.

FACE FINES OR WORSE

Allegations of bribery would not end with simple expulsion of the players. They could also mean heavy fines or prison for offenders found guilty of corruption.

Several players involved in the allegations of bribery did not attend Monday's Football Association inquiry.

It is expected that the inquiries — both by the police and the football chiefs — will go on for months.

The allegations add up to one of Britain's biggest sports scandals in years. But only judging in a court of law against the players concerned will make the allegations stick.

The British public who bet on soccer pools, soccer coupons involving only a few matches and those who just go to a match for the fun of watching are waiting for the result.

Slayer's Burial Set for Today

A young fisherman who took his own life after slaying his ex-girl friend Saturday will be buried today in Royal Oak Burial Park. There will be no inquest.

Fred Egeland, 22, of 5420 Hamsterley, Elk Lake, died instantly after shooting himself with a shotgun about 8 p.m. Saturday. Before turning the gun on himself, he shot and mortally wounded Jean Stockall, 19, of 1600 Pump Street, Saanich.

SPLIT UP

Egeland and the girl split up earlier this year, but friends say until Friday he had hoped to win her back. She had told him then she had a new boy friend and for Egeland not to call her at home or telephone her.

Just before the tragedy Saturday he went to his father's boat, moored at Sidney, and took his father's shotgun.

SHOT OUTSIDE HOME

After buying ammunition for the weapon he went to the girl's home, called her outside and shot her point blank. She died a short time later.

After the shooting he went behind a parked car in the yard and shot himself in the head.

SURVIVED BY FAMILY

Egeland is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Egeland of Sidney; a brother, William, at home, and two grandmothers, Mrs. Agnes Morrey, Victoria and Mrs. Anna Egeland, Sidney.

Leukemia Serum

Chemist 'Sure' Boy Curable

MONTREAL (CP) — Gaston Naessens, a French biochemist who claims he has a cure for leukemia, arrived here Monday and said he is "convinced" he can cure a 3½-year-old Canadian boy of the fatal blood disorder.

Mr. Naessens, who has not yet seen little Rene Guyon, said he could "not foresee any problems in curing the boy, providing permission is given for my serum to be injected."

He was brought to Canada by the boy's father, a 48-year-old restaurateur, who said his son has acute leukemia and is not expected to live more than four more months.

A cure already has cost him $3,500 but declared: "Money doesn't matter, as long as I can save my boy."

Mr. Naessens, whose serum is currently under scrutiny in France, had planned to set up a laboratory in Scotland but said the plan failed because of "too many restrictions" and failure to obtain a work permit.

Permission must be obtained in Canada from both provincial and federal health authorities before he is allowed to produce the serum and treat the boy.

Mr. Naessens and I are going to Quebec City within the next couple of days to talk to officials and we hope they will lead us in the right direction," said the boy's father.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator). Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

Thieves Hit Library

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police would like to know who has been borrowing books from the Vancouver public library and selling them to local bookstores.

Whoever they are, they're costing the city hundreds of dollars.

Library director Peter Grossman said the books involved are mostly technical volumes dealing with electronics, automotive repairs, and construction. Some are valued at as much as $30.

After the shooting he went behind a parked car in the yard and shot himself in the head.

The girl is survived by her parents, Mrs. Dorothy Stockall of Victoria and Murray Stockall

Gain extra space with a new compact Shell furnace —only $489* a month

(A complete range of Shell branded heating equipment is available on low budget terms)

BEFORE: Old-fashioned gravity furnaces like this one rob homeowners of valuable basement living area, rely on warm air to rise of its own accord to circulate heat to rooms. A waste of heat and space.

AFTER: Shell's handsome, compact 9C-100V furnace with forced air system only needs for midfloor location. You can have ductwork positioned out of the way. Makes basement livable, heats far more efficiently.

NO MONEY DOWN
BUY OR LEASE
NO PAYMENT DATE TO REMEMBER
FREE HEATING SERVICE

AS EARLY as next week you could actually have a brand new, compact, forced air oil furnace in your basement. With scarcely a ripple to your budget... and hardly a thought about monthly payment dates.

New furnace—$489* a month
In just one day Shell will disconnect your old furnace and install a new Shell forced air unit, including burner, controls and humidifier (ductwork extra). The humidifier keeps your entire home at a healthy humidity level. It helps overcome cracking and squeaking floors—eliminates those annoying shocks of static electricity. During the summer you can use the fan independently to circulate the coolness of the basement throughout your home. A big extra in comfort. Buy or lease, you make no down payment—not one penny. Your sole undertaking is to buy Shell Furnace Oil.

With a new furnace you gain:

1. A "new" basement. When you replace that "octopus" with a compact Shell furnace, you'll have lots of extra room. Instead of ducking and groping you will walk erect because your furnace is off to one side and the ductwork can hug the ceiling.
2. Warm rooms everywhere. Gravity furnaces do not give even heat—hence a "cold" room. Forced air furnaces direct warm air where you need it most. The heat you pay for is always at your command.
3. Banish cold floors, chilly corners, stuffy upper floors. A forced air furnace from Shell, with filters and humidifier, keeps air circulating in rooms and hallways. Walls and corners get their proper share of heat.

New burner—$1.95 a month
If you already have a satisfactory furnace, Shell will simply replace the oil burner with a scientifically designed Shell unit. Only $1.95 a month, buy or lease.

Simply mail the coupon above. Or telephone if it is more convenient.

A Shell heating specialist will come and explain the full details of Shell's remarkable heating equipment offer. No obligation!

*Shell offers a choice of heating units—(Ductwork and Tanks extra—available on similar terms)

BOILERS

A compact Shell steel boiler is ideally suited for installation in your basement or utility room. It occupies only a small space and is easy to install.

But most important, Shell steel boilers provide hydronic heat for your radiators at very low cost for large and medium size homes. Mail coupon or phone for details.

Eight Pass 'Death Zone'

GOETTINGEN, Germany (UPI) — Eight young East Germans, among them a 20-year-old man and his 17-year-old girl friend who swam the Werra River, escaped through the Communist "death zone" border during the weekend, West German officials said yesterday.

The young couple, from a tiny village just east of the border, crossed Communist mine fields, climbed barbed wire fences and swam the river in pre-dawn darkness, police said.

They asked political asylum at Bad Harzburg in the West German state of Hesse.

Vancouver Academy

Saanich Policeman Leads His Class

Top policeman in a class of 21 to graduate from the Vancouver police academy last week was Saanich policeman Leslie Cameron Hughes who joined the municipal force last June.

Also graduating from the 17-week course were Victoria policemen Kenneth D. Clarke, Ronald W. Coste, Gerald R. Cox and John C. McDonald.

marks the first time Saanich has sent a policeman on the 17-week course and his graduation at the top prompted Chief W. A. Pearson to comment: "It is a great honor for Saanich."

Const. Hughes, 31, spent 10 years in the navy and three years as a corrections officer at William Head minimum security federal prison before joining the force.

Federal Election Now 'Would Split Canada'

RED DEER (CP) — Robert Thompson, national Social Credit leader, said Monday a federal election at this time would result in the separation of Quebec from the rest of Canada.

In an interview, Mr. Thompson said: "An election now would mean nothing more than splitting Quebec against the rest of Canada."

He reiterated an earlier statement, however, that he did not expect an election to be called in the next year.

He said the situation between the rest of Canada and Quebec has improved because of changes proposed in the Canada Pension Plan. The plan "avoided a crisis."

Meteor owners use their garages for storing tools, ladders, baby buggies, bicycles, toboggans, etc.

(Well, you wouldn't hide a beautiful car like this in a garage, would you?)

Beautiful—yet every inch is practical. For instance, push that button on the dash. Look in the rear view mirror. Meteor's Breezeway rear window is gliding down. Lower it just a little to counteract misting. Lower it the whole way for lots of fresh air—without that wind-tunnel effect. And because the rear window slants inward, weather can't get at it... can't obscure your rear vision, summer or winter.

Meteor's size is beautifully right, too. It's a full 215.5 inches long (take six giant steps.) It's wide (two giant steps.) You enjoy a smoother, more stable ride, and far easier handling. And the interior is as big as the feeling you get when you drive a Meteor.

Think of this long, beautiful car in your driveway. (And think of all the stuff you'll be able to store in your garage!) Now go and see your Mercury dealer.

Recreation Rejected But Not Forgotten

Although Oak Bay ratepayers said a big no Saturday to a proposed recreation centre, Reeve Allan Cox said yesterday the council will be considering recreation on a smaller scale at a future date.

Recreation commission chairman Ernest Costain, although disappointed by the result, said he was pleased with the large voting turnout. "This doesn't mean we are going to forget recreation completely," said Reeve Cox.

General Tax Rate Up One Mill in Saanich

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

General taxes in Saanich will go up one mill this year.

The finance committee of Saanich council last night approved a budget which, municipal comptroller-treasurer John Tribe said, means a ratepayer who paid $200 last year in general and school taxes and whose assessments have not been changed, will have a tax increase in the $8-$9 range.

The general municipal tax rate was set at 27.90 mills, an increase of one mill over 1963.

Saanich ratepayers who pay taxes in School District 61 (Greater Victoria) will pay a school tax of 20.39 mills, up .75 from last year, for a total rate of 48.29 mills.

Saanich ratepayers who pay to 3.65 per cent.

Taxes in School District 63 (Saanich) will pay a school tax of 21.24 mills, up .22 for a total tax rate of 49.14 mills.

Mr. Tribe said the increase in the general tax rate works out

Less Than Grant Hike

Coun. Leslie Passmore estimated that, for 90 per cent of Saanich ratepayers, this year's tax increase will be less than the announced $15 increase in the B.C. government's home-owners' grant. Mr. Tribe thought the 90-per-cent estimate was a little optimistic.

Mr. Tribe warned there have been the usual widespread changes in assessment in many areas of Saanich, which will produce considerable alterations in the taxes of some ratepayers.

Before it becomes official, the budget must be approved by Saanich council. But this is considered a formality, since all members of council are on the finance committee.

Adjustments Made

Of this, $3,500 was taken care of by an upward revision of a revenue figure. A $12,000 appropriation for reconstruction of the Gorge bridge at Tillicum was struck out since Esquimalt apparently wants to wait for the results of a Greater Victoria traffic survey.

About $8,000 was cut from appropriations for new works equipment, parks equipment was cut by about $3,000 and the rest of the cut was made up from minor changes and a cut in the contingency reserve fund.

Mr. Tribe noted various types of administration expenses were up a total $31,500 from last year—fire department $26,000, police protection $43,000 and other protections $9,000.

He said these increases were mainly due to salary increases, plus the effect of some additional clerical help, four additional firemen hired last year, four policemen hired last year and four policemen to be hired this year.

He said public works was up about $77,000, parks maintenance $17,000 because of higher wages and more parks, and library service $16,000 in accordance with city estimates.

$50,000 Needed

There was $12,500 set aside toward Canada centennial celebrations in 1967. Saanich believes it will have to raise about $50,000—$1 a head of population—by 1967 to be able to take full advantage of federal and provincial grants.

The total general fund budget, including school expenditures, is more than $5,490,000, of which more than $2,400,000 is to be raised from general-purpose taxes on the $90,338,615 worth of assessment in the municipality and some $500,000 in provincial grants.

Other revenue sources include special assessments such as local improvements and the garbage collection levy, licences and permits, federal grants and school taxes.

Some expenditure items in the draft budget as originally submitted by Mr. Tribe were: administration $226,200, other general government $46,300, fire protection $328,300, police $297,630, other law enforcement $32,950, other protection $122,500 and public works $470,775.

Others were: social welfare $185,300, education $1,721,603, grants $27,385, Victoria Public Library $125,000, debt service $380,250 and contributions to capital loan fund $749,750.

Burrard Dry Dock Still Tied Up

Shipyard Workers Back on Job

Some 1,200 shipyard workers were back on the job in Victoria shipyards yesterday after a 58-day strike—but a hitch has prevented a return at Burrard Dry Dock in North Vancouver.

The return to work in Victoria follows acceptance by the three yards and by officials and most members of the 22 unions involved of a compromise contract settlement reached Thursday by union-management representatives after meeting with B.C. Labor Minister Leslie Peterson.

But it was disclosed yesterday that one of the unions in Vancouver—the Pipefitters' Union, representing about 50 of the about 600 Burrard workers—has refused to accept the settlement and still is picketing the yard and preventing Burrard from a return to work.

The Pipefitters' Union has offered to lift its picket lines to allow in members of other unions, but J. W. Hudson, executive vice-president of Burrard, said last night that production can not go on without the work of pipefitters.

Meeting Today

Mr. Hudson said a meeting has been arranged for today with the Vancouver members of the unions' joint negotiating committee to try to iron out the new difficulty.

He said the pipefitters in the joint negotiations "of course agreed to go along with the majority and of course they have backed up on it."

It was announced late Sunday that members of the striking unions had voted over-

10-Cent Increase

Workers other than journeymen will get a 10-cent increase each time.

Previous rates were $2.70 an hour, with boilermakers getting $2.75 and electricians $2.80.

The settlement also includes retroactive payment of $51.90 to each worker fully employed at the date of the strike for 15 weeks or more, the sum being reduced proportionately for any worker employed less than that.

Other provisions of the three-year agreement include a welfare plan and three weeks' vacation after 10 years' service.

Of 457 men at Yarrow's when the strike began Feb. 5, 394 returned yesterday and Yarrow's general manager John Wallace said the rest are expected back. Of about 950 men at VMD when the strike began, 750 were back yesterday.

Company officials said they are endeavoring to get the retroactive payments made to workers as soon as possible.

Not All Bargains

Clothier Advises Minute Inspection

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Not every clothing "buy" is a bargain as all know when the crisp finish of a fabric disappears after the first laundry, when the buttons fall off at the first wearing.

Lessons in getting the most for your clothing dollar start in the dressing room of the store, says one clothing manufacturer. His suggestion: "If it doesn't fit, forget it." When price is a factor, alterations often add up to much more on the price tag unless you can make the changes yourself.

The manufacturer is Max Shore, manufacturer of budget-priced blouses and dresses. Shore advises the shopper to go over a garment with the same check the "pros" use in setting a garment—step by step, seam by seam.

This minute inspection, guaranteed to make the shopper unpopular with the salesgirl, should include:

• Armholes and sleeves. There should be no tightness; you should be able to move your arms freely. If the style is sleeveless, the armhole slit should not cut into the skin.

• Waistline. It should hit at the natural waist. Even with the shift and the low-waisted designs, there should be some recognition, says Shore, of the waistline.

• Button front styles. There should be sufficient overlap to prevent any gap between buttons.

• Shirt tail. Important on blouses. It should be long enough so there is no constant pulling out of the skirt.

• Skirt. It should be accurate, and well-made clothes have standard sizes cut to specific measurements and are consistent. If one size fits differently from another, watch it.

• In checking fabrics, look for slubs, misweaves, pulled threads which should not be there.

• Solid colors should be of one shade. Often different bits of cloth are used for different parts of a garment, so inspect yours panel by panel to see that each is the same shade. And the direction of the weave should be the same where the panels join, says Shore.

• Remember, closely woven fabrics usually last longer and keep their shape better.

• Turn the potential purchase of dress, or suit inside out, says Shore. Here is where quality really shows, and the more of it you can find inside the garment, the better your chances of being happy with it. Are the seams tight? Big stitches, he said, are one of the biggest giveaways to a cheaply made garment. Beware also of missing stitches.

• Smooth seams. No puckering. A puckered seam will be more so after laundry and even a slight pucker will not iron flat. Check zipper plackets also for puckering.

• Wide seams. They lie more smoothly, stand greater strain, make alterations possible.

• Outside stitching. It should always be even and neat. Thread and fabric should be matched closely for color unless contrast is intended.

• Buttons. Should be of good quality which can stand machine laundering. All buttons, snaps and other fasteners should be sewn securely.

• Buttonholes. Should be well bound with even stitching, and placed so they do not pull the fabric.

• Collars and cuffs. Should be even and symmetrical. On open-necked styles watch the facing. If it's too narrow, the edge may show.

• Hemlines. Hold pleated styles at arm's length to check whether pleats fall evenly.

"HE LOOKS YOUNG... SHE'S LOOKING OLDER!"

Unfair—yet how often you've heard such comments about husband-and-wife! But you can treat this problem—with POND'S SKIN CREAM. This famous cream contains Allantoin—a remarkable substance that starts repair work in just 10 minutes! Allantoin coats off lifeless surface cells, opens the way for Pond's rich moisturized lanolin to penetrate deep-down. Almost overnight, your complexion becomes softer, smoother, younger-looking! • Loose threads. Beware of threads dangling from seams, buttons, buttonholes, hemlines, fabric belts, zipper plackets. These indicate careless finishing.

• A final look at the pressing. Pressing is one indication of just how careful a manufacturer is in handling his product. Careless finishing indicates trouble later.

Foods to Fashions

Trade Fair Catering to Women

The B.C. International Trade Fair may have a ring of big business, but it's still a woman's world as far as many exhibitors are concerned.

Women will be well catered for at this third triennial fair scheduled for Exhibition Park, Vancouver, May 13 to 23.

Strange as it may seem, it is usually the woman in the house who makes the decision to visit a trade fair, according to Don Mollison, BCITF manager.

Exhibitors are quite aware of this. Which is one reason why clothes, food products, home and garden equipment, furniture, carpets, and appliances will be numbered among the thousands of items on display.

In fact, an Arab trader would be in his element at this fair. Products of more than 40 nations will be on display including such exotic sounding foods as Chinese gooseberries, pasta soup, lemon butter, almond paste and cashew nuts.

There'll also be medicated soaps and lipsticks, toilet goods, coir rugs from India, cutlery, biscuits and confectionaries, handcrafts and leather goods, seafoods and spices, cottons, silks and woolsens.

There is also a nightly fashion show in the finest Parisian tradition under the guidance of international fashion expert Winifred Mather.

To keep the rest of the family happy, there will also be games for junior, sporting equipment, camping gear, fancy automobiles, the latest in power tools and even a battery powered lawn mower.

The B.C. International Trade Fair is the biggest of its kind outside New York this year and is nearly as big again in terms of space sales as the previous fair staged in 1961.

The exhibits, valued at more than $10 million range all the way in size from a genuine U.S. missile to tiny transistor radios. And, while much of the equipment is designed to appeal to businessmen and buyers groups from all over the world, there

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column you offered two reasons why homosexuals marry. First: "They yearn to be normal and hope that marriage will somehow enable them to lead a normal sex life."

Second: "They hope marriage will provide them with a cloak of respectability and serve as an effective cover."

There is a third reason, Ann Landers, a reason of which I am acutely aware. I married for this reason, knowing full well that I was a homosexual. In simple language — it was the unbearable pressure from well-meaning family and friends.

I was 29, good-looking, well-built, successful in my profession, and frankly, quite content with my life as it was. My homosexual drives were low-key and I had none of the manifestations generally associated with homosexuality. I managed to keep that side of my life so well disguised that family and friends suspected. Finally I was so bedeviled by the relentless pressure to get married that I decided to do it.

The girl I married was charming, bright and totally unaware of what she was getting into. She is now in a private mental hospital as a result of two years with a louse who used her for his own purposes.

In your book, "Since You Ask Me," one chapter was headed, "Marriage is Not for Everyone." I wish I had seen it five years ago. Thanks for letting me get this off my chest. — GUILTY.

Dear Guilty: Your letter was an excellent example of what you, my readers, can contribute to one another. Thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently a letter signed "Past Tense" appeared in your column. The writer asked, "Am I wrong, or is it the height of bad manners to use a toothpick at the table? Shouldn't the gentleman have excused himself?"

Your reply begged the question. You gave the woman the impression that her escort's bad manners were acceptable and she wound up looking stupid.

I have a 13-year-old daughter who reads your column regularly and respects your advice. Will you please address yourself to the woman's question? — CONNECTICUT YANKEE.

Dear Yankee: Approximately 500 people wrote with the same complaint. Half of the letters came from Boston and the other half came from Maine, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

With all those fine schools in New England how come you people can't read? I said in plain English, "It is indeed poor manners to use a toothpick at the table. The man should have excused himself."

I did NOT mean that the man should have said, "Excuse me," and used the toothpick there at the table. I meant (and I thought it was clear) the man should have left the table and taken his toothpick to the men's room.

Compre? *** Dear Ann Landers: Can you tell me what to do about a conscience that's killing me? Last week we had a semester geometry test. The boy who sits in front of me is just about a genius. Geometry is my weakest subject, although I have managed so far to sweat out a B.

This particular exam was a beast. I got stumped on the last problem and passed a note to the boy ahead of me asking him to please slide over so I could see his answer. He slid over and I copied straight off his paper.

Stop Paying Hoffa Bills Teamster Treasurer Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the Teamsters union's executive board has asked that the union stop paying union President James R. Hoffa's bills pending a high-level conference on whether the payments are a violation of federal law.

A spokesman in the New York office of John J. O'Rourke said O'Rourke, fifth vice-president and member of the 15-man executive board of the 1,700,000-member union, made the request in a telegram to Teamster's secretary-treasurer John F. English.

It called for a halt to any such expenditures until the full board can meet to consider the question.

O'Rourke, in the telegram, said his request was based on the advice of Edward Bennett Williams, Teamster's general counsel, that it is illegal to pay Hoffa's huge legal expenses out of union funds.

"I request a prompt meeting of the general executive board with personal attendance of general counsel Williams and pending such a meeting I request that no union funds be used for such purpose," O'Rourke's telegram said.

Members of the union's executive board are scattered throughout the United States and it probably would take several days for them to meet if such a meeting is called.

O'Rourke said that Williams' advice about the possible illegality of paying Hoffa's fees covered both the teamsters president's recent trial and conviction on a federal jury-tampering charge in Chattanooga, Tenn., and his trial which opened yesterday in Chicago on charges of misusing millions of dollars of Teamster's funds.

Five Years For Leaders Of Dockers

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Henry F. Bell, vice-president of the International Longshoremen's Association, was sentenced Monday to five years in prison and fined $5,000 on a jury tampering charge.

District federal Judge Frank Gray Jr., who handed out the maximum penalty, immediately overruled a motion for a new trial. Defence lawyers said they plan to appeal.

Bell was convicted April 8 of offering $30,000 to bribe two jurors in the 1962 conspiracy trial of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa.

He was the sixth person, including Hoffa, to be convicted of attempted jury tampering in that trial, which ended in failure of the jury to reach a verdict. That case is still pending.

They Mean Business

Police in Nashville, Tenn., obviously mean business as they go after Negro in street during race demonstration. Man they are subduing is one of about 150 Negro students who tried to enter segregated cafeteria and later blocked traffic on busy street by lying in roadway. Four were arrested. — (AP Photofax)

LONDON (UPI) — A Daily Mail cartoon Monday showed one mornald saying to another, "... and steer clear of Copenhagen."

Little Mermaid Being Restored

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — A Danish sculptor began work today on restoring the famed Little Mermaid statue which was decapitated by unknown vandals last week.

Lauritz Rasmussen, head of the Royal Zinc and Bronze Foundry, was using the original plaster cast from which the statue was first made in 1913.

The beautiful bronze statue, a Copenhagen harbor landmark for 51 years, was decapitated Saturday morning.

Police said an American has offered a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest of the vandals who sawed off the head of the statue. The offer was made in a telegram to the Copenhagen police chief by Henry Gallermann, a New York bank manager.

Rasmussen, who as a boy of 16 watched the statue first being put in place, said "I am deeply shocked that a terrible thing like this could happen to her."

The sculptor, who will handle the repair work himself, said "the job will be perfect without any traces at all."

The restoration is expected to take five or six weeks. The mermaid, sculptured and cast in bronze by Edvard Ericksen, is

Full Control Of Relief 'Impossible'

NEW YORK (AP) — The Catholic Relief Services said Monday that "no food that we ever delivered (to South Viet Nam) was deliberately put on the black market."

But, a spokesman said, "it's almost impossible to control 100 per cent the end result" of the massive world-wide food programs that Catholic relief runs.

The spokesman, Rev. Fabian Flynn, issued the statement in response to a Los Angeles Times story out of Saigon. The story Sunday said a U.S. government report detailing corruption and incompetence in distribution of surplus U.S. food by Catholic relief in South Viet Nam has been suppressed.

The report, the story said, told of the surplus food winding up in the black market, being left to rot in warehouses, fed to pigs, given to South Vietnamese government officials for their own use and sold by parish priests to non-Roman Catholics while given free to Catholics.

Merger

DAR ES SALAAM (Reuters) President Abeid Karume of Zanzibar arrived here today for the formal exchange of instruments of ratification merging the island with Tanganyika in a united republic.

He was accompanied by members of Zanzibar Revolutionary Council, including External Affairs Minister Sheikh Abdul Rahman Babu.

They were welcomed at the airport by President Julius Nyerere, Vice-president Rashidi Kawawa, other members of the Tanganyika government and diplomats.

Karume, his Vice-President Abdullah Kamum Hanga, Nyerere and Kawawa took the salute and inspected an honor guard of Nigerian troops as a police band played the national anthems of the two countries.

Four Piper Cubs of Tanganyika's air force flew overhead.

With the exchange of documents—instruments of ratification—Nyerere was due to become president of the united republic and Karume the first vice-president.

The surprise merger was agreed upon last Wednesday when Nyerere flew to the tiny island of Zanzibar, 22 miles off the East African coast, and signed "articles of union" with Karume.

Radio Station Takeover Bid Kills Six Men

LA PAZ (AP)—Six miners were reported killed and an undetermined number wounded Sunday in an armed attempt to take over the radio station in Huanuni, Bolivia.

A report broadcast by Radio Huanuni, said the attackers were members of President Victor Paz Estenssoro's Nationalist Revolutionary Movement party. The official police version, however, said leftist followers of Vice-President Juan Lechin attacked Huanuni.

Town Shot Up In East India

New Fun —Bomb Hunting

VERNON (CP) — Teen-

— hunting bombs.

Many unexploded mortar

last year since two Boy Scouts

E.K. Brownridge, President, American Motors (Canada), Limited, sees the three millionth and first Rambler produced in North America (an Ambassador station wagon) off the line at Brampton, Ont.

By the time you read this, we'll be well on our way to 4,000,000 Ramblers

Since the first Rambler rolled off the line, our total North American production has soared past three million cars. And we're just starting.

In just a few record-breaking years, Rambler came out of nowhere to become the biggest automotive success of our time.

WHY DID OVER 3,000,000 PEOPLE SWITCH TO RAMBLER?

We started in the days of over-large, over-weight cars. People needed a conveniently-sized, economical car. We created the compact car. All car makers followed suit.

Today, we build three different Ramblers to meet everybody's needs—the luxurious Ambassador V8, the popular Classic 6 and V8, the compact economical American 6.

And when we started, we realized the need for a better-built car. To make a stronger, safer, longer-lasting body, we developed exclusive Single Unit Construction with Uniside. To combat rust, we pioneered Deep-Dip Rust-proofing, the world's best rustproofing. To make a muffler likely to last as long as you own your Rambler, we introduced our Ceramic-Armored Muffler. To provide greater braking safety, we offered Double Safety Brakes. To advance battery life, we were one of the first Canadian cars to offer an alternator as standard equipment. To hush road noise, we developed our exclusive Cushioned-Acoustical Ceiling of molded fiberglass.

Our philosophy is "Maximum usefulness to the user." We build cars that lead in quality, integrity of construction, and value.

That's why so many people switch to Rambler.

WHAT A RAMBLER TEST DRIVE WILL DO FOR YOU

It will change your mind completely about cars. You'll find Rambler unlike any car you've driven or owned. See your nearest Rambler Dealer today.

A convincing test drive was the turning point for more than three million happy Rambler owners. And that many people can't be wrong.

An Artist Who Can Draw

Born in Sheffield, Yorkshire, Arthur Gresham is a painter who has a background of wide experience in life as well as in painting.

In 1911, he emigrated to Canada and was later awarded two scholarships for the Ontario College of Art.

Later he was appointed to the board of directors and, for 13 years, was also director for the T. Eaton Company of Toronto.

In addition, he is past president of the Canadian Society of Graphic Art and is a member of the Arts and Letters Club of Toronto.

It is an exhibition of his earlier work which now hangs in the galleries of the Spencer Mansion, now an important part of the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria.

In this age of throwing paint at the canvas to see how much it will stick (and nothing can be more fun, as the accidental results have often so much more vitality than work that has been labored over) it is refreshing to go back in time to the period in which students were taught to draw and to use their paint intelligently.

For many years portrait painting has been frowned upon and to show any knowledge of drawing or painting meant that the work would in all probability be rejected by the juries at first glance, if submitted for annual exhibitions.

It takes long and arduous study and training to be able to paint a good portrait. I do not mean necessarily a good likeness, this can quite often be obtained in an otherwise bad painting, strange as it may seem.

A good portrait should also be a good composition well-balanced within the picture space but it should be a sound analysis of the sitter if it is to have any lasting interest.

In Mr. Gresham's collection, he has included quite a bit of figure work, which we see in The Japanese Parasol and in the study of the man standing, both ably handled with good paint quality.

But his chief interest is in landscape.

Those I like best are Adirondack, Red Maple, Madawaska, Kushig, Lower Buck Slides and Ontario Village Hotel.

This exhibition will be shown until May 10.

Vancouver Housewives 'Dig In' As Garbage Men Stay Out

VANCOUVER (UPI)—Armed with shovels, hoes and garden spades, housewives began "digging in" Monday as 1,500 striking garbage collectors and other civic outside workers continued their strike here.

With nobody to haul their garbage away, the housewives were instructed by the city to dig 12-inch deep holes in their backyards and give their refuse a first-class burial.

The strike of outside workers is in its sixth day with no signs of an immediate settlement. Union leaders over the weekend refused Mayor Bill Ratlie's suggestion that they submit the dispute to binding arbitration.

Union officials said the full effect of the walkout wouldn't be felt for about one week, and the forecast is beginning to come true.

Some housewives are following the burying procedure, but many refuse to tear up the landscape, and those who have, say they don't know how long they can continue.

The city garbage dump is lined with pickets. Many "do-it-yourselfers" marched past the picket line during the day.

One irate citizen drove his car past the dump and tossed his garbage at the picket line.

There were additional reports of "wholesale" dumping in the rural areas. Some said cars were driving along country roads and jettisoning their garbage into ditches.

always were a lot of nails lying on the road leading to the dump and a magnet was used to sweep them up once a week. "I doubt if any of the men on the picket line would throw spikes on the road," he said.

Residents reported seeing picket captains writing down license numbers of cars that crossed the picket lines.

Peace River's Wild Life Unstudied Before Flood

There'll be no botanical and biological survey of the Peace River district this year.

Dr. G. Clifford Carl of the provincial museum said that no funds have been allocated to his department for the survey, urged upon the government by the Universities of Victoria and British Columbia and the provincial museum, mines and parks branches.

LITTLE KNOWN

Dr. Carl said that the Peace River area is relatively unknown biologically and that a survey should be made before it is inundated.

Marion A. M. Bell, University of Victoria botanist, said that the people from the universities and the government realize that no large-scale surveys have been made in B.C.

STUDY WANTED

Mr. Bell said that no consideration was given to scientific studies when the flood was proposed.

"If these things must go ahead, as they must for the sake of progress, the scientists would like a chance to study the before and after situation," he said.

"We are extremely anxious to make the study. We want to know what happens to the animal and plant life and the climate of such an area when it is flooded."

"This will be our last chance to study the area," said the botanist.

The university is particularly anxious to make the survey which would have involved students under supervision by the staff.

Garden Notes

Guile Beats Poison

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRES

The growing of clean carrots and onions is becoming something of a problem in our part of the country because of the ravages of two pests, the carrot rust fly and the onion maggot, and it isn't easy to find satisfactory control measures. I know of many gardeners who have simply quit trying to grow these crops at all, for there is nothing more unappealing than a grubby carrot or an onion swarming with fat white maggots.

We have some pretty powerful soil insecticides for dealing with these pests, but I am not at all satisfied that this is the best method of attacking the problem. For one thing, the pests are developing resistance to the chemicals; aldrin is now almost useless against the onion maggot, heptachlor isn't doing as good a job as when it first came out, and to keep one jump ahead of the amazing adaptability of these insects, a new soil insecticide called ethion has been developed. Nobody knows how long it will continue to work.

Wholesale use of soil insecticides isn't good business anyhow. The aldrin or heptachlor doesn't stop at killing the grubs hatching out in our soil; other soil organisms are killed too, some of them beneficial and predatory on our soil-inhabiting pests, and with the predators and pest-parasites out of the way, there is no natural deterrent to these pests. A lot of folks are a little uneasy, too, over the possibility that these poisons may be absorbed by the vegetables and may be taken into our bodies when we eat them.

To get a better understanding of the problem, let's take a look at the life cycle of these two pests. The villains of the piece—or more correctly, villainesses—are two small flying insects, the carrot rust fly and the onion maggot fly. Hatching in the soil, these take wing, seek out a male fly, mate, then go on the prowl looking for a good place to lay their eggs in the soil. Obviously, because the grubs from the eggs cannot travel far or fast, such a place must be close to their natural food—carrots and onions respectively—so the egg-laying mothers come homing in on the characteristic smell of carrot leaves and onion tops. The eggs hatch into our pest grubs and maggots, and in due course these pupate in the soil, then hatch out into adult flies, completing the cycle.

These pests are not new, and gardeners were combatting them successfully hundreds of years before soil insecticides were ever invented. Their methods were nearly all based on the principle of confusing the mother fly by concealing or overwhelming the smell of the foliage.

For instance, it was common practice a hundred years ago to site the carrot and onion rows next to one another and very close together, on the theory that the onion smell would mask the carrot scent and vice versa. I tried this and didn't get any grubs, but I wouldn't call it proof, for I didn't have any widely-spaced control rows for comparison.

Another common method was to sprinkle moth crystals down the rows. The gardeners of that time believed the naphthalene crystals killed the grubs, but in light of our present-day knowledge, I think it was the smell of the stuff that did the trick.

Some folks, of course, may object to carrots that smell of moth balls, and in this connection, I had a most interesting letter the other day from Mrs. L. E. Wray of Irvines Landing, B.C. She tells me she combats the carrot fly—and I imagine it would work just as well with onions—by sticking green twigs from a cedar tree in and around her carrot rows, thereby masking the smell of the carrot foliage without tainting the flavor of the carrots.

STANTON DELAPLANE's Postcard from Mexico

Rain God Takes Revenge

COATLINCHAN, Mexico—Well, Tlaloc was hauled away from this Aztec village to Mexico City the other night. He sat here in stony silence for 14 centuries. Then they hauled him away on a specially built truck.

As you might expect from pushing around the Rain God, it rained in Mexico City. A retaining wall went down in Tacubaya. And a department store building was flooded.

Don't fool around with Tlaloc unless you're carrying an umbrella!

Coatlinchan is near Texcoco. From this city on the shores of the Aztec lake, Cortez built and launched the barkentines that starved out the capital.

For some time, Mexico City has been working on moving the stone monolith that stood near Coatlinchan. No easy job. Tlaloc weighs 167 tons—probably the only thing that kept him from being destroyed by Spanish priests.

Finally they built a special road to where he stood. They built a special trailer that cost $800,000. They brought in enough cable to wire him down like Gulliver.

Now there was some talk that the people of Coatlinchan might not like this. You know how people are.

So Mexico City said: "The people of Coatlinchan are very backward. They worship this idol and are superstitious. They think if we move Tlaloc the farmers won't get rain."

The people of Coatlinchan said: "That's a lie. We are very modern folks around here."

Mexico City then said: "Look, if we move Tlaloc, we'll build you a school."

The people of Coatlinchan said: "That's an awful lot of stone we are letting you have. How about throwing in a health centre and a few deep wells?"

"Done," said Mexico City.

Mexico City then built the road and the trailer—it carried a big advertising sign: "Goodrich tires." (I wonder who got the concession to sell space on the side of that trailer?)

They built a special steel scaffolding to get him up on the truck and out of the sand.

Apparently not everybody in Coatlinchan agreed with the deal. On one night somebody cut the scaffold cables. A box of dynamite disappeared. And there was talk of blowing up the special road.

Just to make sure, they moved Tlaloc in the dead of night.

And for further insurance, then sent an escort—1,200 soldiers!

Even in the night, the word got around. And hundreds of Coatlinchan Indians lined the road to see the Rain God leave his ancient home.

There seems to be some argument about whether Tlaloc was an Aztec god. Or whether he was only for the people who carved him—the same ones who built the pyramids at Teotihuacan.

He looks a little like Richard Nixon to me. Same jaw.

There is also some question whether Tlaloc is a Rain God or a Rain Goddess. But as one Mexican scientist pointed out:

"When you are 1,400 years old, what difference does it make?"

Anyway Tlaloc is to be set up in Mexico City—at this writing, they don't know how to get him off the trailer. Nobody thought of that. They did all the engineering to get him UP on the trailer. Now they can't figure how to get him down.

They are going to set him up in Chapultepec Park. Where Montezuma used to walk under the ancient ahuehuete trees. And the tourists go out to see the palace where Maximilian and Carlota lived.

It's on all the sightseeing trips.

Wear your rubbers!

Bird Gets Message

It doesn't look as if I'm ever going to get the hang of inducing the birds to eat peanuts out of my hand. It may be that they don't trust me, although most animals I have known seemed to like me. That doesn't go for cats.

I've followed all the rules. I have a good birdwatcher's manual, so I know what kind of birds I'm dealing with. I've bought the proper kind of peanuts. My approach is gentle, even saintly. My wife says my bird call is as good as any she's ever heard, even at parties.

Still, I haven't had a bird take a single peanut yet.

I talk to the birds, but they don't seem to get the message. "Listen, you crazy birds," I said this morning, for example, "I bear you no ill will. I am only trying to befriend you. Here, come and get a peanut."

All they do is croak, thrum or twitter, depending on the kind of voices they have, and regard me with baleful eyes. I have any peanuts in the bird bath, however, and walk away. They are snapped up in a trice.

The other day I absentmindedly left the whole sack full of peanuts on the patio. They came after them in relays. They must have gone and got their sisters and their cousins and their aunts. But from my benevolent hand they will take nothing.

Possibly the cat is at fault. Out of the corners of their little black eyes the birds doubtless see this carnivorous wretch coiled up in the bushes, waiting to spring if one of the feathered creatures hazards a landing.

I regard it as treachery on my part to let the cat out doors while I'm trying to seduce the birds to land, but whenever she sees me with the peanut sack she waits for the door to open and goes through it like a bullet.

Her system is to look off casually in some other direction, as if having not the slightest intention of going out, then moving like lightning at the critical moment.

This morning she got out and sprang at a bird who was taking the full treatment in the bird bath. Just as the cat leaped I leaped and gave out a terrible scream. This unexpected event shocked the cat just enough to upset her timing, and she only got one paw on the bird, who, I am happy to say, got away.

To prevent any recurrence of this adventure I picked up a shovel and started out after the calico brute, but a cat is better equipped than a man for sprinting back and forth in a heavily planted garden, particularly a man carrying a sack of peanuts in one hand and a shovel in the other.

Psychologically, however, I believe I acted wisely, since there is little doubt that the cat associated my odd conduct with her attack on the bird.

Maybe with patience and love I can train the witch.

Actress Liz
Laughs It Off

NEW YORK (NANA)—A little thing like being sued for $30,000,000 isn't enough to bother Elizabeth Taylor—or else she's a better actress than a lot of people give her credit for.

When lawyers for 20th Century-Fox Film Corp. served her with a huge sheaf of papers as she was crossing the lobby of the Regency Hotel, Liz showed casual interest at best.

She glanced at the fat bundle of legal documents, spelling out Fox's suit accusing her and husband Richard Burton of tarnishing the value of Cleopatra with their off-screen antics, and tossed it to her personal manager, Dick Hanley.

"You take care of this," she smiled prettily. Liz was going to the theatre to see Burton in Hamlet, and wasn't going to let a little old lawsuit spoil the evening.

Bette Davis is likely to explode if she does not land the role of the nagging wife in the movie version of Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf. With due respect to Bette's talent as an actress, I would have thought the screen role would call for a somewhat younger woman. Wasn't someone hoping to get Bette for a new film biography of Sarah Bernhardt? At any rate, her movie career is barreling along and it seems a thousand years since she put in that trade ad, asking for a job in Hollywood.

That's right. If you want more beautiful flowers both indoors and outdoors, use Later's Pacific Fish Fertilizer. Pacific Fish Fertilizer is invaluable as a continuing source of soil nutrient replenishment for growing plants. It is particularly useful for helping transplanted plants off to a fast start.

- 2,000 acres in East Sooke
- Two whole islands
- German experts on job
- $500,000 spent so far

By JACK FRY

An elaborate international playground is being created on southern Vancouver Island, but who is footing the bill remains a secret.

Under the banner of Grouse Nest Resorts Ltd., the vacationland based at East Sooke is speeding toward a June 9 opening date.

It already includes the old Grouse Nest resort and 2,000 acres of land in the East Sooke area and two islands in the Sidney and Saturna Island-East Point areas.

The firm has applied to the provincial government for a foreshore lease on 130 acres at the eastern end of Sooke basin and in Roche Cove for "boat mooring and general aquatic recreation purposes."

It has also filed in the B.C. Gazette its intentions to apply for leases on 112 acres of foreshore around Forrest Island and 44 acres around Cabbage Island for "private mooring."

Specialized workmen from West Germany under the guidance of a highly talented German artist have spent nearly a year converting the old East Sooke resort into a luxury resort which will cater to an international clientele.

Ski Area Interests Swiss

No Object

Money seems to be no object, and more than $500,000 has already been pumped into the Grouse Nest conversion.

Much of the 2,000 acres posted with "no trespassing or shooting" signs in East Sooke will be used as a private deer hunting preserve for Grouse Nest guests.

The 111-acre Silver Spray Ranch on the southwestern tip of the East Sooke Peninsula is earmarked for future development as a waterfront golf course.

The ranch and the two islands in the Gulf were acquired from owners in the United States.

Sportsmen throughout Greater Victoria have expressed fears that their popular hunting and fishing areas are being "taken over" by German interests.

The skiing resort potential of Green Mountain has attracted inquiries from a Swiss promotional company, according to an announcement last night by the executive of the Sno Birds Ski Club.

The Swiss company, whose name could not be learned, plans to make the 565-acre site at the 4,800-foot level of Green Mountain into a first-class area, complete with gondola lift, restaurant facilities and overnight accommodation.

The Green Mountain area, reached through Comox Logging Co. land 25 miles west of the Island Highway at Cassidy, was opened three winters ago.

Insanity Trial Ordered

'His Mind Falling Apart' Ruby's Lawyers State

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby, described by his lawyers as a man whose "mind is falling apart," will get a jury trial to determine if he now is insane and should be committed to a mental hospital.

In response to a request for a sanity trial filed by Mrs. Eva Grant, Ruby's sister, Judge Joe B. Brown said he would begin empanelling a jury at the first suitable date.

Ruby, who banged his head against a cell wall Sunday, appeared pale and shaky at a hearing Monday. An abrasion the size of a half-dollar could be seen on the top of his head.

A psychiatrist testified that Ruby, the slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, believes his crime will result in the slaughter of 25,000,000 American Jews.

Ruby believes he is "the Jew responsible" for the imagined slaughter, the psychiatrist said, adding that such hallucinations triggered his apparent suicide attempt Sunday.

Defence lawyer Joe Tonahill said Ruby tried to fight him earlier Monday. "I had to call in his rabbi to calm him," Tonahill said.

Canadians Shot At GREEKS BREAK CEASE-FIRE

NICOSIA (UPI)—Strong Greek Cypriot forces led by the Greek Cypriot interior minister launched a two-pronged assault Monday on the last Turkish Cypriot stronghold in northeastern Cyprus. The Greeks were using armored cars, machine-guns and mortars.

The battle continued to rage as night fell and United Nations officials feared it could continue through the night under a full moon. The immediate object was medieval St. Hilarion Castle which dominates the mountain passes and the Nicosia-Kyrenia road.

The Greek Cypriot attack which broke a cease-fire arranged by the UN forces was commanded by Greek Cypriot interior minister Polycarpus Georgiadis who came under heavy fire from the Turkish Cypriot position.

Turkish Cypriot guns fired on Canadian UN Ferret armored cars as they descended the mountainside at sunset from a position near St. Hilarion. One car was hit but the Canadians did not return the fire. There were no casualties.

ROAD BLOCKS

The Canadians set up road blocks in the area and on a coastal road leading westward from Kyrenia, apparently to block the flow of armed men and equipment into areas where women and children could be involved.

One of the tensest spots was the village of Guzenli where the 650-man Turkish army force is dug in on the Nicosia-Kyrenia road.

Cottage Kept Cosy At Chilling Cost

BRANDON (CP)—Last fall Ross McNaught of nearby Hamiota visited his lake cottage to see that everything was in order for the winter. While there, he turned on the four elements of his electric stove to "take off the chill."

Apparently the cottage was cosy all winter, because Mr. McNaught has just received a bill from Manitoba Hydro for $150.

Samarkand

Giant Blast Salvation

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet engineers prepared a massive explosion Monday to release a dammed-up mountain river as a first step toward saving the flood-threatened city of Samarkand.

They planned to set off 110,000 pounds of explosives today in their effort to cut a canal outlet through a landslide that has blocked the central River Zhetysay, 1,700 miles south-east of Moscow.

TO BUILD CANAL

They seek to build a canal 985 feet long that would drain the backed up waters into the river bed below. The landslide is so unstable that holes have to be dug by hand to place the explosives, chief engineer Anatol Tsvetkov told a Soviet correspondent at the scene.

Workers backed out hole 6.5 feet wide and 26.2 feet deep for the charges, reported to be made up of conventional blasting materials.

Experts at the dammed gorge said the lake rising behind the landslide will push out the natural dam in a maximum of four days, a report by the official news agency Tass said.

That would send a wave of destruction down the valley toward the faded old central Asian trade marts of Samarkand and Bukhara—unless the water can first be let out gradually through a canal.

Negro Barred —Officers Quit Parley

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The New York state delegates to a meeting of U.S. National Guard officers packed their bags Monday, under orders from Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to go home because their hotel refused to admit a Negro colonel.

Maj.-Gen. A. C. O'Hara, adjutant-general of New York, said the management of the Roosevelt Hotel refused a room to Col. Otto Van Exel, commander of Brooklyn's 187th artillery group.

Maj.-Gen. Edwin W. Heywood, adjutant-general of Maine and association president said the incident would not affect the conference.

Ottawa, B.C. Lagging In Flood Victim Aid

PORT ALBERT—Ottawa and B.C. seem to be "dragging their feet" in giving help to Alberta Valley flood victims, Ald. Jack Perry told city council last night, one month after the disaster.

He said some cabinet ministers—Ottawa's Arthur Laing and B.C.'s Dick Campbell—have helped a lot but "I understand neither government has authorized payment of any money and I'd like to go on record as being disappointed in the response of our senior government."

Mayor Les Hammer, explaining the B.C. cabinet still must study assessors' figures, said he thought help will "be a while yet."

He added he didn't think the delay "was quite fair, especially to small businesses... some of them are at their wits' end."

The mayor warned that "no one must be misled because we have been given no guarantees."

'Nurse' Abducts Baby

CHICAGO (UPI)—A blonde dressed in a nurse's uniform Monday tricked a mother in a maternity ward into giving up her three-day-old baby and abducted it from under the ward.

A city-wide alert was issued for the abductor and child and police assigned all available men, including homicide detectives, to the search.

The mother, Mrs. Chester Fronczak, 26, became hysterical when she was informed of the kidnapping.

Military, Sheriff Believe Him

'Very Reliable Witness' Reports Landed Saucer

SOCORRO, N.M. (UPI)—It's a good place for a flying saucer. Right on the edge of White Sands missile range on the wide open New Mexico desert, just 30 miles northwest of the site of the first atomic blast.

Socorro policeman Lonnie Zamora says he saw it, and police and military men seem inclined to believe him.

Zamora is a "very reliable witness," said army Capt. Richard Holder, uprange commander of White Sands' station range. Holder, whose headquarters is near this central New Mexico town, was called in by local police after Zamora reported seeing the object Friday.

Deputy Sheriff James Luckie said he believes "It's something out of the ordinary, something very few have ever seen."

"I was scared," Zamora said. He said his experience taught him one thing: If it happens again, he will still run away as he did Friday, but he will not tell a soul about what he saw.

Zamora said he spotted an egg-shaped object on the desert about a mile south of Socorro. He denied seeing any signs of life around the object and said the machine rose and flew slowly away until it faded from sight.

NEAR SAUCER

He said he spotted what appeared to be a pair of white overalls near the saucer, but could not tell if anything or anyone was in them. The object, about the height of a car but larger, appeared to be made of a shiny, aluminum-like substance, Zamora said. It flew away after he got within about 100 yards, he said.

Pre-Birth Transfusions Save Canadian Baby

WINNIPEG (CP)—A baby boy who appeared doomed before birth is alive and thriving in Winnipeg General Hospital after a rare medical procedure believed to have been accomplished for the first time in Canada.

Doctors say one-week-old William Paul Taylor has every prospect of leading a healthy life.

He received four transfusions before birth and three afterwards because of a conflict in the blood types of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Taylor of Druid, Sask.

In a procedure known as transuterine intraperitoneal blood transfusion, blood supplied by the Canadian Red Cross was injected by a long needle through the mother's abdominal wall and uterus into the baby's abdominal cavity.

Horses Throw Students

DUNCAN — Seven of 10 Queen Margaret's School girls out for a ride last Thursday were thrown when their horses bolted, it was learned Monday.

Three girls were taken to King's Daughters' Hospital but only one, Helen Merrick, 13, of Mill Bay, was kept in the hospital. She is in satisfactory condition with unstated injuries.

The horses bolted when a power-saw began behind bushes off the trail at Centennial Heights. The animals later returned to the school stable.

Burglar Takes Tea

NANAIMO — Someone who broke into Quennell School on Selby Street Sunday night apparently only wanted a tea break.

Police said the interloper broke windows in the school annex, made his way to the staff room, brewed a pot of tea and left.

ALBERNI — The thief could have been knocked into the middle of next week when an electric service panel was stolen from a motel under construction at 1020 Johnston Street. The panel was lifted over the weekend after power had been connected.

TOFINO — Donald John McGinnis of Tofino, who helped his father John McGinnis of Victoria build the St. Francis Roman Catholic Church in Tofino last year, will be a principal in the first wedding in the church. He will marry Arlene Craig, daughter of Tofino-Ucluelet mining and logging company operator Sam uel Craig, at 7 p.m. Saturday.

NORTH COWICHAN — A $400 donation from Mac-Powell's Chemist division has boosted the reeve's fund for Alberni flood victims to almost $3,000. The Victoria fund passed $5,000 thanks to $943.97 given during a tag day Saturday.

ALERT BAY — The body of Indian Joe Jack, 64, who fell from an oil wharf March 20, has been recovered near here. A coroner's inquiry is planned.

LADYSMITH — The village council has zoned 1,800 waterfront acres for recreation, from Arcady to a point level with Baden-Powell and from the E and N line to 1,300 feet out to sea. Transfer Beach, part of which is sought by a log firm for booming grounds, is not included although planners agree the section from the government wharf to Holland Creek is not suitable for industries.

NANAIMO — David Stupich, NDP MLA for Nanaimo and the Islands, leaves today for a two-day speaking tour of the Comox riding.

TOFINO — The T. W. Islander, which has been searching for seals in Tofino Inlet as part of a biological research project aimed at preserving the fish runs, caught two in one day recently in Smith Bay, five miles from here. The fish-killers were netted by crewmen directed by Allan Best.

Cadet Grind First In Canada

By LYNNE WALLER

NANAIMO — An assault course built for cadets by cadets may set a pattern for similar courses across Canada.

The 500-yard "grind" was built last year by Nanaimo sea cadets, with the co-operation of local militia units, in deep woods near the army rifle range a few miles from here.

Slightly smaller than the ones used by grownups, it will be inspected May 7 by B.C. sea cadet leaders and other military officials with a view to its use across the nation.

SUNDAY IDEA

Lieut. Stanley Hawkes, an instructor, says the idea came from local sea cadets when they began accompanying militia units on Sunday afternoon military exercises in the forests.

The cadets, aged 14 to 18 years, built it themselves by partly clearing a section of land near a B.C. Hydro power line. Using available materials, they started the course with a wall six feet high.

OVER AND UNDER

It goes on to logs four or five feet from the ground, zigzag logs, hurdles of the over and under varieties, ladders and more walls.

There are smoke pots in abundance to obscure vision, plenty of defanged barbed wire, flour bombs, stumps and hidden "machine gun" nests.

Lieut. Hawkes said the cadets carry rifles with bolts removed to prevent any chance of injury. Their actual shooting is done in an indoor range under close supervision.

KINDNESS

The young men have taken quite well to the course, which he said is a more successful method of physical training than gymnasium drill.

ONE OF MANY

He emphasized the course is not regular wartime training but just one of many cadet activities.

The cadets, however, are treated like real troops and subject to tight discipline under their own section leaders.

Said Lieut. Hawkes: "These boys are determined to prove they can do it—and they can."

Hotel Guests All Fired Up

Recreation Rejected But Not Forgotten

Although Oak Bay ratepayers said a big no Saturday to a proposed recreation centre, Reeve Allan Cox said yesterday the council will be considering recreation on a smaller scale at a future date.

Recreation commission chairman Ernest Costain, although disappointed by the result, said he was pleased with the large voting turnout. "This doesn't mean we are going to forget recreation completely," said Reeve Cox.

Come Back to Erin! Fine, Says Magistrate

NANAIMO—John Joseph Harvey stood on Bastion Street Saturday night, yelling at the top of his lungs, extolling the virtues of Ireland and saying how he wished he was there.

In court Monday, Magistrate Lionel Reeve-Potts fined him $12.50 for intoxication, and said, "If you'd like to be back in Ireland so much, I don't think there's anything stopping you from going."

MLA Will Battle For Water Plan

PORT ALBERNI—MLA John Squire vowed Monday he will "keep the fight alive" to bring adequate water systems to two Island Indian reserves.

He also charged that Indian Affairs officials have refused to support a pipeline scheme which engineers say is feasible and the Indians are willing to pay for.

FOLLOWED FIRE
The Alberni NDP member's statement followed a fire on the Opihast Reserve near Tofino last week in which a home was burned and an Indian leader blamed the inadequate water supply.

Mr. Squire added about a village in the same area is in even worse straits for water.

"I shudder to think what will happen there if there's a fire," he said. "Everything could be wiped out."

BAND FUNDS
Mr. Squire said the Opihast are willing to subscribe band funds for construction of a pipeline from the Tofino water supply across the bay to the reserve on Meares Island.

Indian Affairs officials refused to take part in the project, he said, and since then, the Indians "have paid much more maintaining the present makeshift system than would have been required for the pipeline."

DONE EARLY
He said some work was done early this year to improve the water system "but it was just in the nature of patching up an inadequate setup."

During a visit in January, he and area MP Tom Barnett found a housing shortage. "Now three more houses have burned down and I don't know how the people are managing."

The MLA said the Meares Island creek dam is inadequate; when water is low in the summer, it all runs under the dam.

Parksville Resort To Get Jail?

A 500-acre site near Vancouver Island's lush resort community of Parksville is being touted as the most likely location for a new provincial jail.

Officials said Parksville's balmy weather is the reason it is preferred to an alternate 500-acre tract between Courtenay and Cumberland.

NOT FOR TAN
But the weather is not so inmates can substitute a deep tan for prison pallor—it is so they can grow vegetables.

Inmates of the medium security prison will work in agriculture and forestry.

The prison will be designed to house 240 prisoners in huts instead of cellblocks. Most will be Vancouver Islanders.

Attorney-General Borneo, who announced plans for an Island jail during the recent legislative session, said yesterday he hopes construction can start this year.

Out 15 Minutes

Fire Levels Home Of Island Family

COWICHAN STATION — A young family of five lost everything Monday when a two-storey home burned to the ground in a $6,000 fire of unknown origin.

Mrs. Robert Hartle took her three children, Terry, 4, Kenny, 3, and Debbie, 14 months, for a walk to the post office half a mile away.

TOO LATE
When she returned about noon, she said flames were shooting out of the windows.

"It was too late to do anything," said Mrs. Hartle. "It was away only 15 minutes."

NEIGHBORS HELP
The home, which is in unorganized territory, was insured. Mr. Hartle was working at the time as a maintenance man at the Strathcona Lodge school for girls.

Neighbors have given the family clothing and other articles. The Hartles have been given shelter by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cornett.

Burrard Dry Dock Still Tied Up

Shipyard Workers Back on Job

Some 1,200 shipyard workers were back on the job in Victoria shipyards yesterday after a 58-day strike—but a hitch has prevented a return at Burrard Dry Dock in North Vancouver.

The return to work in Victoria followed acceptance by the three yards and by officials and most members of the 22 unions involved of a compromise contract settlement reached Thursday by union-management representatives after meeting with B.C. Labor Minister Leslie Peterson. But it was disclosed yesterday that one of the unions in Vancouver—the Pipefitters' Union, representing about 50 of the about 600 Burrard workers—has refused to accept the settlement and still is picketing the yard and preventing Burrard from a return to work.

The Pipefitters' Union has offered to lift its picket lines to allow its members of other unions, but J. W. Hudson, executive vice-president of Burrard, said last night that production can not go on without the work of pipefitters.

Meeting Today

Mr. Hudson said a meeting has been arranged for today with the Vancouver members of the unions' joint negotiating committee to try to iron out the new difficulty.

He said the pipefitters in the joint negotiations "of course agreed to go along with the majority and of course they have backed up on it."

It was announced late Sunday that members of the striking unions had voted over-

10-Cent Increase

Workers other than journeymen will get a 10-cent increase each time.

Previous rates were $2.70 an hour, with boilermakers getting $2.75 and electricians $2.80.

The settlement also includes retroactive payment of $51.90 to each worker fully employed at the date of the strike for 15 weeks or more, the sum being reduced proportionately for any worker employed less than that.

Other provisions of the three-year agreement include a welfare plan and three weeks' vacation after 10 years' service.

Of 457 men at Yarrow's when the strike began Feb. 5, 394 returned yesterday and Yarrow's general manager John Wallace said the rest are expected back. Of about 950 men at VMD when the strike began, 750 were back yesterday.

Company officials said they are endeavoring to get the retroactive payments made to workers as soon as possible.

Man Admits Holdup

A 29-year-old Montreal man pleaded guilty in Saanich Magistrate's court about 4:30 p.m. yesterday to armed robbery in the $7,300 holdup of the Saanich branch of the Bank of Montreal Friday.

Joseph Jean Chislain Robitaille had been arrested only three hours earlier in a room in the Strathcona Hotel during a routine check of transients. Police said $1,548 was found in the room.

Robitaille was remanded during the regular court session to Thursday for a probationary report. He appeared before Magistrate William Outler and was not represented by counsel.

Meanwhile, police are seeking Clarence William Kraft, a Victoria beauty supply salesman, for questioning in the holdup. They also seek two other men, believed from Quebec.

CAR NEAR HOME

Det. Sgt. Joe Armstrong said a second getaway car used by the gunmen was found near Kraft's residence, and he has not been seen in the Victoria area since the holdup. He is known to police here, in Vancouver and New Westminster, Det. Sgt. Armstrong said.

Police are hoping the arrest of Robitaille will make the holdup men jittery, and perhaps lead them to surrender.

"On the other hand," said one officer, "as soon as they hear about it, they may run like hell the other way."

The first major break in the case came Saturday night, when a man out walking found articles of clothing on a dirt road at Mount Douglas.

Detectives retrieved the clothing and later called in dogmaster Const. James White and Rex, who located the weapons believed used in the robbery.

GUNS TRACED

Officers say they have traced the original owner of the three guns—a .45 Colt automatic pistol, a .45 Webley revolver and a .45 Colt revolver.

With the weapons—which were fully loaded when found—police recovered 70 cartridges and a canvas bag, believed used to carry the money from the bank. Straw hats and dark glasses, used as disguises, were traced to the store where they were sold, police say.

TWO CARS

Detectives now say two cars were used in the crime. The first, a Pontiac U-drive, was abandoned at Holloway and Maplewood, about half a mile from the scene of the crime. Police say the bandits then drove to Mt. Douglas in a Chevrolet and discarded their guns and clothes where they were recovered Saturday.

On Salt Spring

Hunt On for Deadly Cat

By REA HAMILTON

FULFORD — A cougar who has been on Salt Spring Island for about a month has left his deadly autograph all over the island, but now he's the subject of an intensive search.

James Dewar of the provincial fish and game branch began the search during the weekend, accompanied by fellow hunting experts Percy Dewar, his brother Jim Paton of Sooke, Frank Holman of Westholme, and their dogs.

First sign of the elusive cat was tracks discovered on Mount Tamm at the south end of the island several weeks ago.

Since then, more gruesome signs—the bodies of deer and sheep—have been found all over the island.

The cougar is believed to have wintered on Galiano. Last big cougar shot in this area was a seven-foot, 130-pound cat tracked down by Skate Harnes, then of Courtenay, after a two-month search from March until May in 1961. The lethal shot was fired on nearby Prevost Island.

Hunter Bob Ahernman took part in that search, being paged as he sat in church. With no time to change, he became famed as the best-dressed cougar hunter on record.

Tax Rate in Duncan Boosted Four Mills

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN—A 1964 tax rate of 48 mills, up four mills from last year, was set by city council last night.

Council also increased garbage collection fees and decided to hold a public vote "as soon as possible" on the Duncan share of the new Cowichan forest museum.

The tax rate, which also increased three mills last year, is based on a $671,157 budget compared to $652,036 a year ago.

MAIN REASON

Main reason for the four-mill jump is an increase of $22,258 in school costs and a $6,000 boost in debt charges this year, the latter due to the new hospital.

The increase in garbage disposal fees is $3 per household per year, to $12, and 15 cents more for business and industry. It will put garbage collection on a self-sustaining basis.

Island Queen Refit Planned

GANGES—The B.C. ferry, Queen of the Islands, will be off her usual run until May 7 for overhaul.

Swartz Bay-Tasowassen ferries will make daily calls at Village Bay and Sturdies Bay.

The budget contains no change in administrative costs.

Council gave two readings to a bylaw setting up a vote on the borrowing of $16,450 for the museum. Lakes Cowichan's share of the $37,000 cost would be $3,700. The rest would come from North Cowichan.

Reeve Hopes to Avoid $50,000 Revenue Loss

NORTH COWICHAN—Reeve Donald Morton of North Cowichan, which may lose $50,000 in tax base, expects sizeable financial loss through the narrowing of their annual tax revenue through a B.C. tax-law change, will lead a delegation to Victoria Friday to urge an alternative.

Reeve Morton, Mayor Fred Bishop of Alberni, and the Reeves of Powell River, Kitimat and Burnaby will meet Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell to discuss a Municipal Act amendment passed at the recent session of the legislature.

ANY PURPOSE

The amendment abolishes taxation on personal property for any purpose except schools, and substitutes a business tax at a maximum rate on personal property.

Municipalities now can assess and tax all personal property in commercial and industrial establishments for any purpose. The change will hit hardest at municipalities with much heavy industry. About a dozen centres

Reeve Morton said the change would mean a drop of $7,000,000 in assessments and therefore a $50,000 tax loss to North Cowichan.

The Union of B.C. Municipalities, meeting in Burnaby early this month, suggested the amendment not become law at least until the 1965 legislative session begins.

- 2,000 acres in East Sooke
- Two whole islands
- German experts on job
- $500,000 spent so far

By JACK FRY

An elaborate international playground is being created on southern Vancouver Island, but who is footing the bill remains a secret.

Under the banner of Grouse Nest Resorts Ltd., the vacationland based at East Sooke is speeding toward a June 9 opening date.

It already includes the old Grouse Nest resort and 2,000 acres of land in the East Sooke area and two islands in the Sidney and Saturna Island-East Point areas.

The firm has applied to the provincial government for a foreshore lease on 130 acres at the eastern end of Sooke basin and in Roche Cove for "boat mooring and general aquatic recreation purposes."

It has also filed in the B.C. Gazette its intentions to apply for leases on 112 acres of foreshore around Forrest Island and 44 acres around Cabbage Island for "private mooring."

Specialized workmen from West Germany under the guidance of a highly talented German artist have spent nearly a year converting the old East Sooke resort into a luxury resort which will cater to an international clientele.

Ski Area Interests Swiss

No Object

Money seems to be no object, and more than $500,000 has already been pumped into the Grouse Nest conversion.

Much of the 2,000 acres posted with "no trespassing or shooting" signs in East Sooke will be used as a private deer hunting preserve for Grouse Nest guests.

The 111-acre Silver Spray Ranch on the southwestern tip of the East Sooke Peninsula is earmarked for future development as a waterfront golf course.

The ranch and the two islands in the Gulf were acquired from owners in the United States.

Sportsmen throughout Greater Victoria have expressed fears that their popular hunting and fishing areas are being "taken over" by German interests.

The skiing resort potential of Green Mountain has attracted inquiries from a Swiss promotional company, according to an announcement last night by the executive of the Sno Birds Ski Club.

The Swiss company, whose name could not be learned, plans to make the 365-acre site at the 4,800-foot level of Green Mountain into a first-class resort complete with gondola lift, restaurant facilities and overnight accommodation.

The Green Mountain area, reached through Comox Logging Co. land 25 miles west of the Island Highway at Cassidy, was opened three winters ago.

Insanity Trial Ordered

'His Mind Falling Apart' Ruby's Lawyers State

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby, described by his lawyers as a man whose "mind is falling apart," will get a jury trial to determine if he is insane and should be committed to a mental hospital.

In response to a request for a sanity trial filed by Mrs. Eva

Grant, Ruby's sister, Judge Joe B. Brown said he would begin empanelling a jury at the first suitable date.

HOLD SUCH TRIAL

Texas law requires that a judge hold such a trial if the defence asks for it.

Ruby, who banged his head against a cell wall Sunday, appeared pale and shaky at a hearing Monday. An abrasion the size of a half-dollar could be seen on the top of his head.

A psychiatrist testified that Ruby, the slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, believes his crime will result in the slaughter of 25,000,000 American Jews.

Ruby believes he is "the Jew responsible" for the imagined slaughter, the psychiatrist said, adding that such hallucinations triggered his apparent suicide attempt Sunday.

CALL RABBI

Defence lawyer Joe Tomahill said Ruby tried to fight him earlier Monday. "I had to call in his rabbi to calm him," Tomahill said.

Cottage Kept Cosy At Chilling Cost

BRANDON (CP)—Last fall Ben McNaught of nearby Hamlets visited his lake cottage to see that everything was in order for the winter. While there, he turned on the four elements of his electric stove to "take off the chill."

Apparently the cottage was cosy all winter, because Mr. McNaught has just received a bill from Manitoba Hydro for $180.

Giant Blast Salvation

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet engineers prepared a massive explosion Monday to release a dammed-up mountain river as a first step toward saving the flood-threatened city of Samarkand.

They planned to set off 130,000 pounds of explosives today in their effort to cut a canal outlet through a landslide that has blocked the central River Zeravshan, 1,700 miles south-east of Moscow.

TO BUILD CANAL

They seek to build a canal 965 feet long that would drain the backed-up waters into the river bed below. The landslide is so unstable that holes have to be dug by hand to place the explosives, chief engineer Atli Turikov told a Soviet correspondent at the scene.

Workers hacked out holes 6.5 feet wide and 20.3 feet deep for the charges, reported to be made up of conventional blasting materials.

Experts at the dammed gorge said the lake rising behind the landslide will push out the natural dam in a maximum of four days, a report by the official news agency Tass said.

That would send a wave of destruction down the valley to ward the fabled old central Asian trade route of Samarkand and Bukhara—unless the water can first be let out gradually through a canal.

Negro Barred —Officers Quit Parley

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The New York state delegates to a meeting of U.S. National Guard officers packed their bags Monday, under orders from Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to go home because their refusal to admit a Negro colonel.

Maj. Gen. A. C. O'Hara, adjutant-general of New York, said the management of the Roosevelt Hotel refused a room to Col. Otto Van Exel, commander of Brooklyn's 157th artillery group.

Maj. Gen. Edwin W. Heywood, adjutant-general of Maine and association president, said the incident would not affect the conference.

Greeks Break Cease-Fire With Large-Scale Attack

NICOBIA (UPI)—Strong Greek Cypriot forces led by the Greek Cypriot interior minister launched a two-pronged assault Monday on the last Turkish Cypriot stronghold in northeastern Cyprus. The Greeks were using armored cars, machine-guns and mortars.

The battle continued to rage as night fell and United Nations officials feared it could continue through the night under a full moon. The immediate object was medieval St. Hilarion Castle which dominates the mountain passes and the Nicosia-Kyrenia road. The Greek Cypriot attack which broke a cease-fire arranged by the UN forces was commanded by Greek Cypriot interior minister Polycarpus Georgiadis who came under heavy fire from the Turkish Cypriot position.

Turkish Cypriot guns fired on Canadian UN Ferret armored cars as they descended the mountains at sunset from a position near St. Hilarion. One car was hit but the Canadians did not return the fire. There were no casualties.

Military, Sheriff Believe Him

'Very Reliable Witness' Reports Landed Saucer

SOCORRO, N.M., (UPI)—It's a good place for a flying saucer. Right on the edge of White Sands missile range on the wide open New Mexico desert, just 30 miles northwest of the site of the first atomic blast.

Socorro policeman Lonnie Zamora says he saw it, and police and military men seem inclined to believe him.

Zamora is a "very reliable witness," said army Capt. Richard Holder, uprange commander of White Sands' station range. Holder, whose headquarters is near this central New Mexico town, was called in by local police after Zamora reported seeing the object Friday.

Deputy Sheriff James Luckie said he believes "It's something out of the ordinary, something very few have ever seen."

"I was scared," Zamora said. He said his experience taught him one thing: If it happens again, he will still run away as he did Friday, but he will not tell a soul about what he saw.

Zamora said he spotted an egg-shaped object on the desert about a mile south of Socorro. He denied seeing any signs of life around the object and said the machine rose and flew slowly away until it faded from sight.

NEAR SAUCER

He said he spotted what appeared to be a pair of white coveralls near the saucer, but could not tell if anything or anyone was in them. The object, about the height of a car but larger, appeared to be made of a shiny, aluminum-like substance, Zamora said. It flew away after he got within about 100 yards, he said.

Pre-Birth Transfusions Save Canadian Baby

WINNIPEG (CP)—A baby boy who appeared doomed before birth is alive and thriving in Winnipeg General Hospital after a rare medical procedure believed to have been accomplished for the first time in Canada.

Doctors say one-week-old William Paul Taylor has every prospect of leading a healthy life.

He received four transfusions before birth and three afterwards because of a conflict in the blood types of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Taylor of Druid, Sask.

In a procedure known as transuterine intraperitoneal blood transfusion, blood supplied by the Canadian Red Cross was injected by a long needle through the mother's abdominal wall and uterus into the baby's abdominal cavity.
